All The World's A Stage...

"All's the world's a stage,
And all the men and women merely players.
They have their exits and their entrances;
And one man in his time plays many parts."

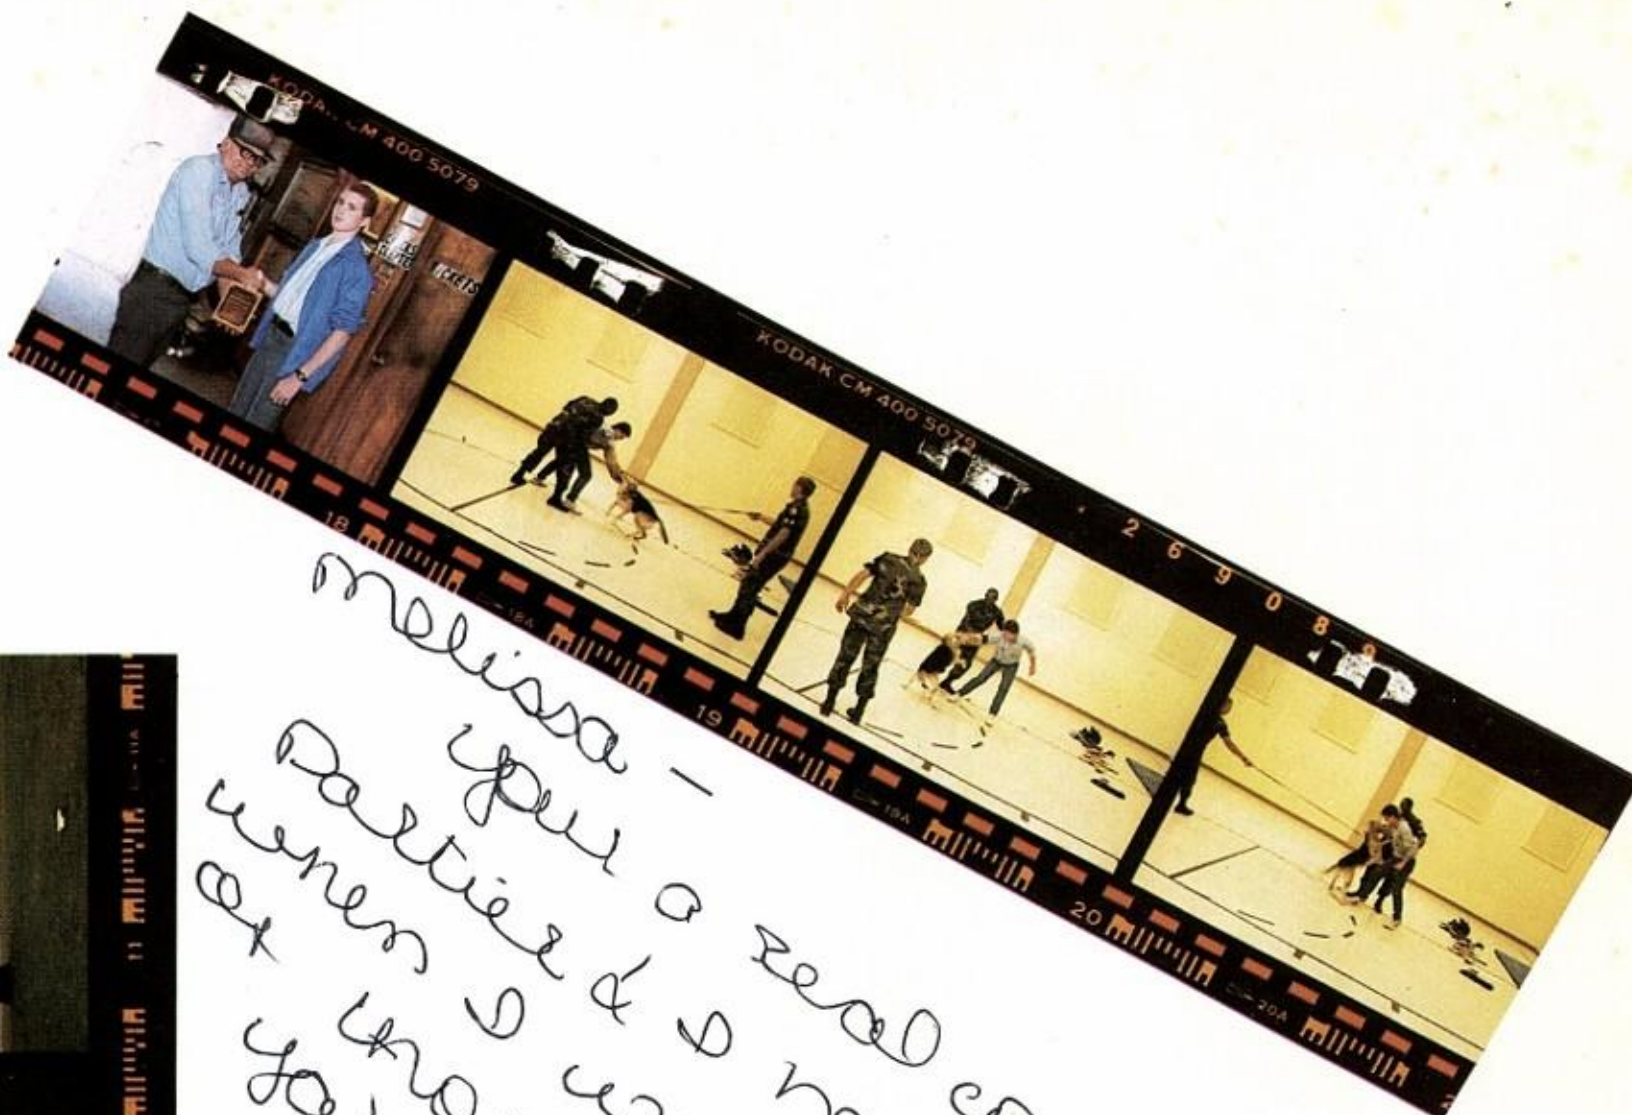

As You Like It, Act IV, Sc. 1.

With more laughter and tears than a Broadway hit, each year at North Lamar is a classic production of the work, determination, and the desire to succeed. Everyday is a dress rehearsal for the future, not only for ourselves, but also for the lives we come in contact with.

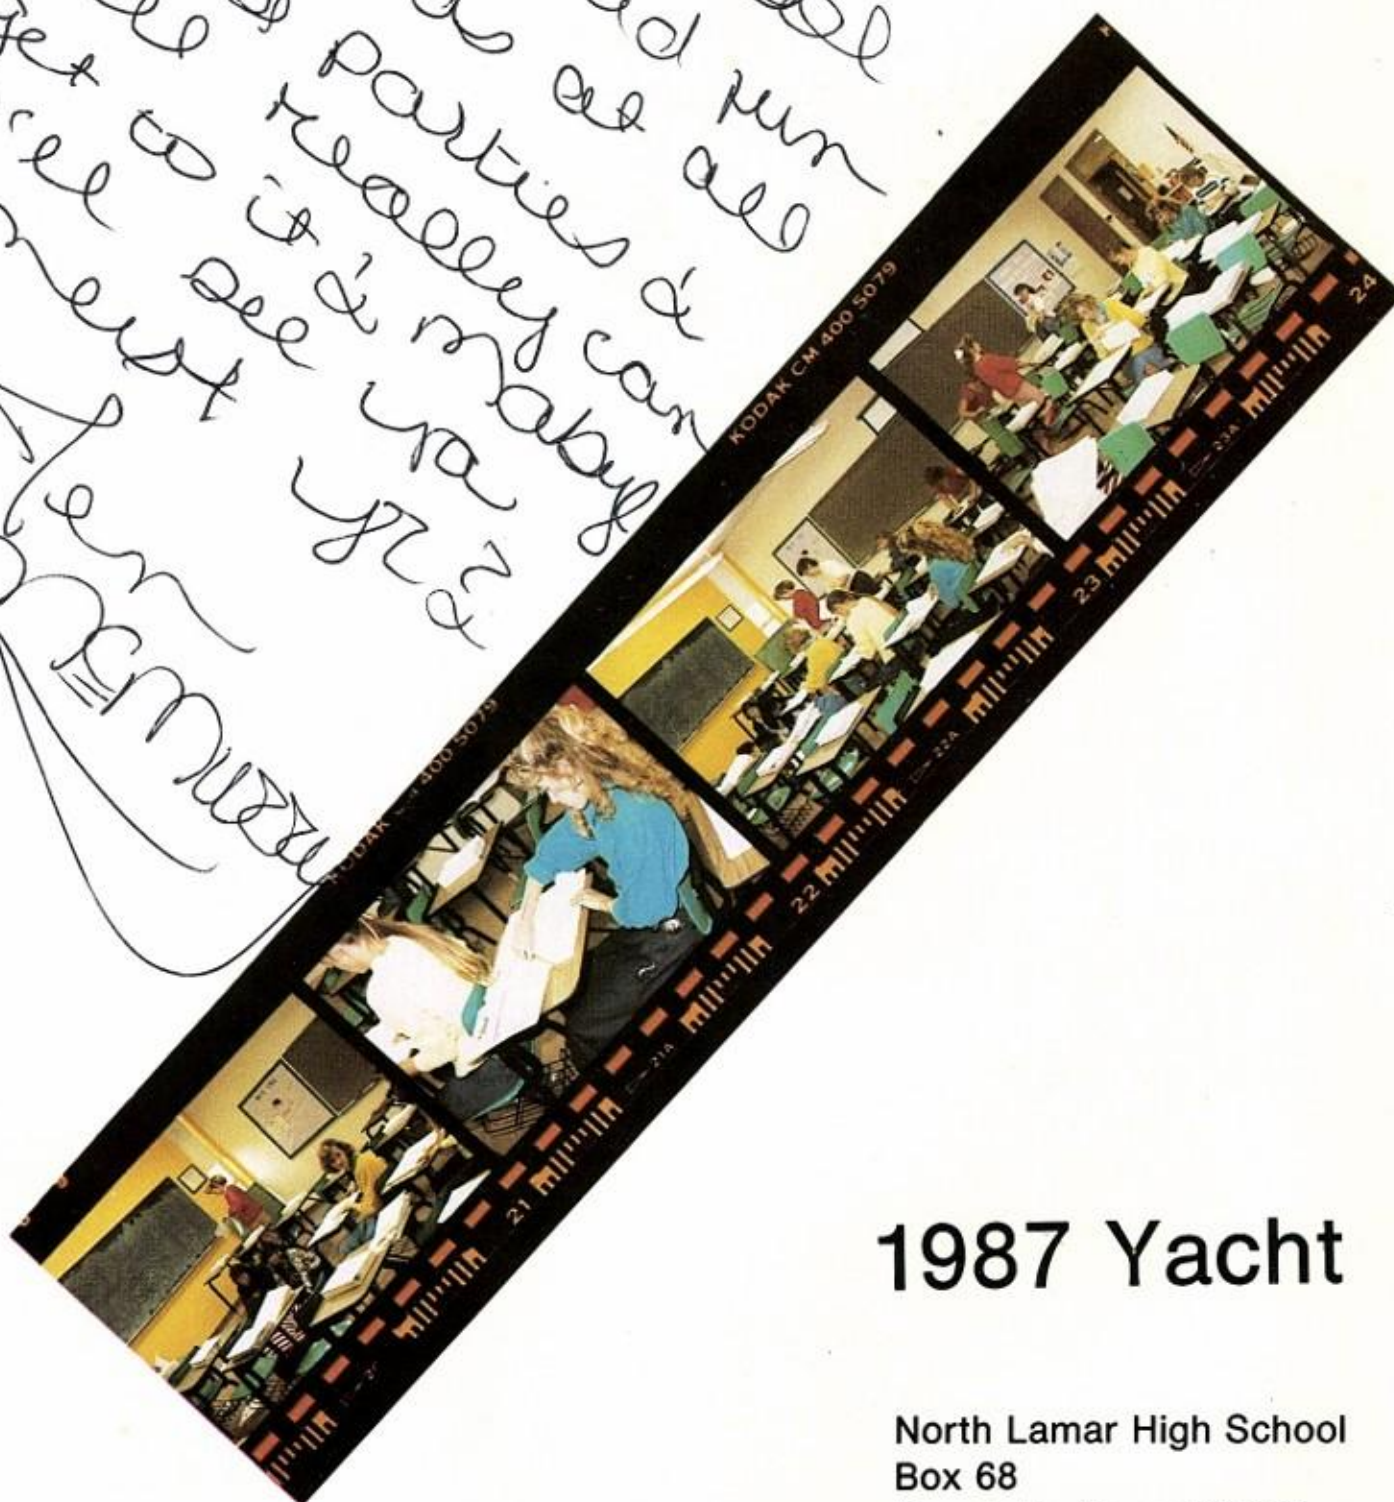

The year's production involves many people in many positions with each one adding color to an otherwise dull picture. There is no written script or starring role. The actors are equal, with each being a star in his own right. Where the plot leads and how the story ends depend on the members of the cast and the guidance of the directors.

A hush falls over the waiting crowd as the house lights dim in preparation for the opening scene. Let the show begin . . .

Class of '87 Dedicates

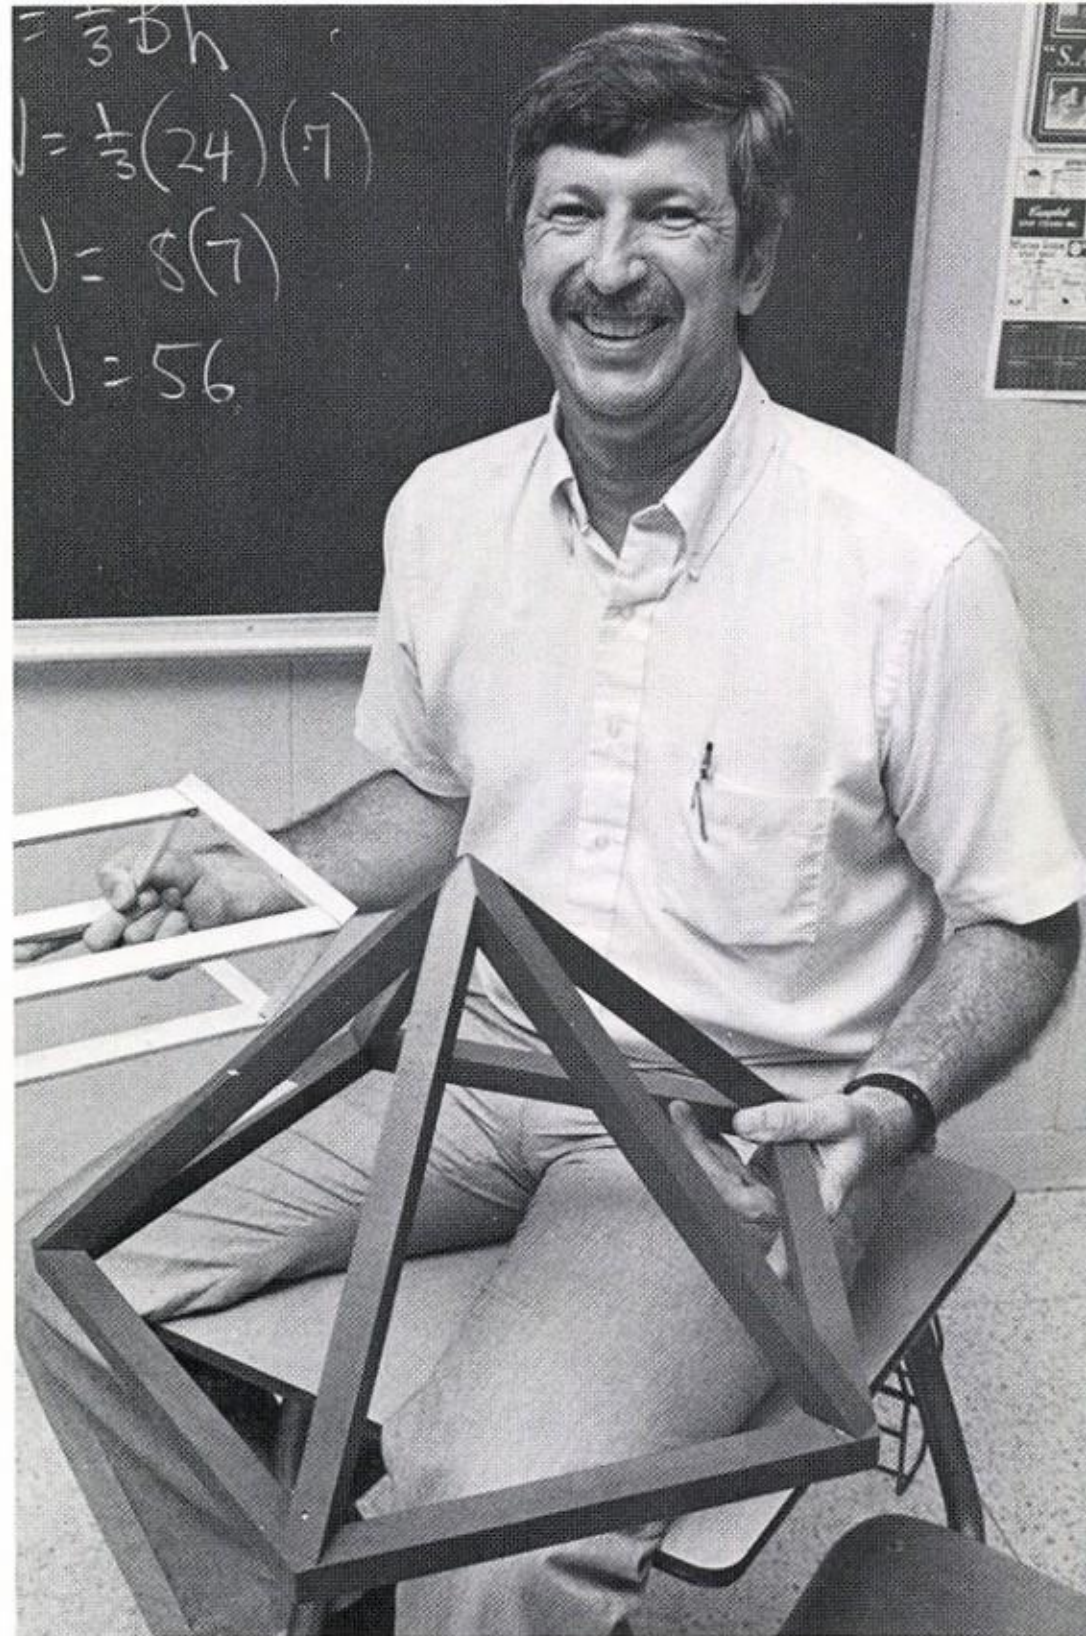

Faster than a speeding school bus. More powerful than a paper airplane. Able to leap small desks in a single bound. It's a bird. It's a plane. No, it's Superteacher.

Because of his boundless energy and never-ending enthusiasm, this man always seems to end up on center stage. His involvement includes every aspect of the educational production, in addition to being a husband, father, and community leader.

Never known to be idle, he has devoted his life to molding young people into capable adults through his leadership and expertise. He has served as UIL and club sponsor, as well as an unofficial counselor for students and faculty alike. His familiar face can be seen at any athletic or academic event, radiating moral support and Panther Pride.

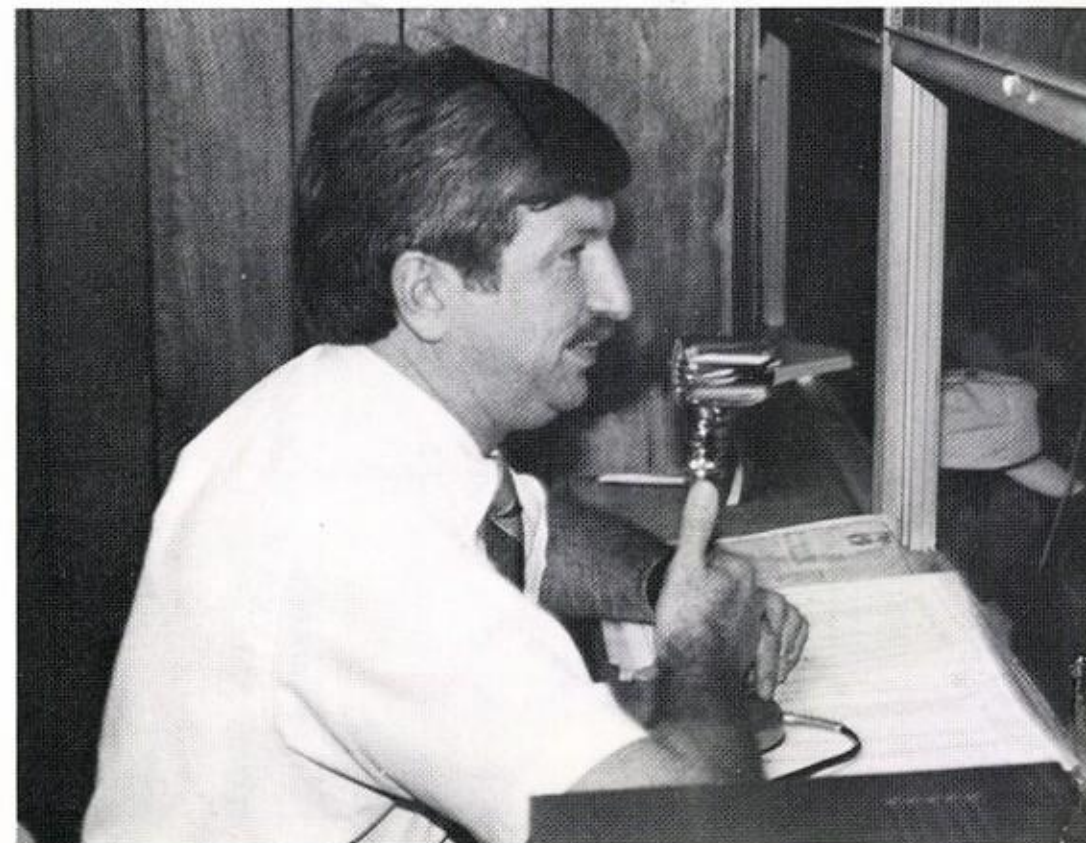

In the classroom, his teaching methods defy all set standards. None of his students will ever forget his definition of a vertex angle or his dynamic personality. Although his wily antics are no longer present in the classroom, they will not soon be forgotten.

For caring, sharing, and believing in us, we, the Senior Class of 1987, proudly dedicate this yearbook to Dr. Tommy Eads.

Geometry: Dr. Eads poses with some of the geometric models he uses in class.

The Stage

While the stage is merely a setting, and North Lamar is merely a stage, student life is not a movie that will end when the last popcorn is eaten. Everyday activities demand top performances that train students for the future and what they may find there. "Lights, camera, action . . .," and the stage is set.

Youth for Christ Holds Benefit

March was a month full of beginnings and endings for many people. For Freshmen and Sophomores, it meant an end to late nights of work on Science Fair projects. For athletes the beginning of spring meant track, baseball, tennis, or golf practice. But for all students, it meant SPRING BREAK.

On March 7, Youth for Christ held a special concert to benefit Special Olympics. Several choir members performed as did local gospel groups such as "Cornerstone."

National Foreign Language Week was observed by students and faculty, as well as by Andrea Izzo. As president of Foreign Language Club, Andrea was required to wear a costume for dress-up day. She went barefoot, wrapped a sheet around her body, and wore a Mickey Mouse t-shirt underneath. Erin Swint stated, "What she was, was anyone's guess."

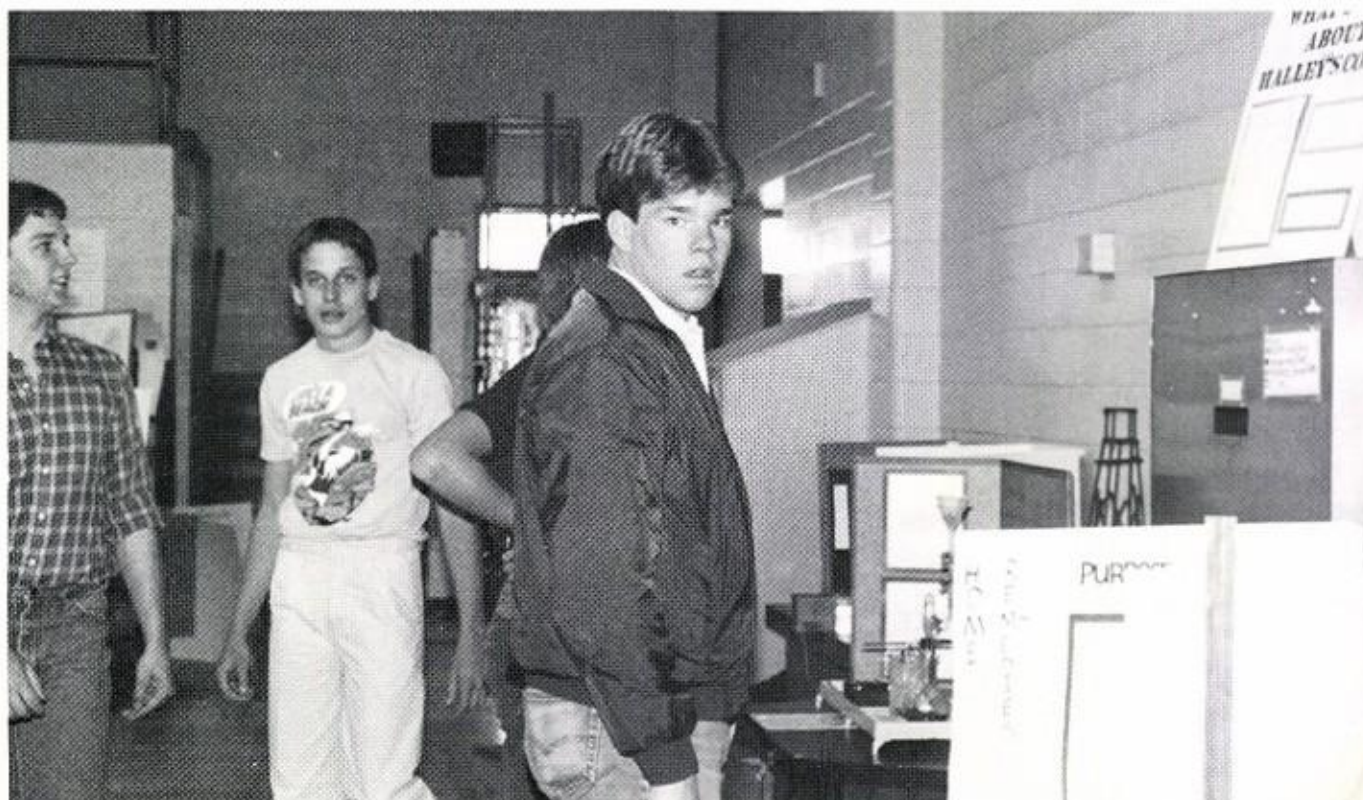

Warm weather and days of sunshine encouraged students outside as they observed March "going out like a lamb."

(Top) Dress-up Day: Foreign Language Club members Leah Stranathan, Heather Earls, Kristi Harris, Erin Swint, Liskin Swint, Kenneth Shirley, and Sponsor Katie Bryant pose in their costumes during National Foreign Language Week.

Gospel: Youth for Christ member Rhonda Denny entertains the audience with "The Tears I Cried for Him."

Lunch time: New outside benches allow students Shamane Border, Mary Leeks, and Becky Dancer to sit in the March sunshine and do homework.

One Act Play Presents

April - Performance The two words seemed to go hand-in-hand as students participated in spring activities that required their best.

UIL One Act Play presented You Can't Take It With You that outlined the lives of two opposite families brought together by the love of their children. One of the more serious parts of the play turned out to be quite humorous for Erik Moore and Amanda Harris. They were required to kiss during one scene, but they had skipped that part for several days. Amanda stated, "We finally had to perform in front of the other members of the cast. It was so embarrassing." Erik continued, "The moment came, I embraced her, we kissed, and then I realized that I had forgotten my next line out of embarrassment." Throughout the rest of the year, neither Erik nor Amanda were allowed to forget their love scene.

For the first year, FHA held a style show with members modeling tuxedos and formals and participating in a mock wedding after the show. Model Kim Wood said, "As Craig Malone (groom) and Angie Carpenter (bride) waited for 'You may kiss the bride,' they turned and shook hands."

Students also participated in the livestock show, Community Concert Collage, and cheerleader tryouts as they looked forward to one more month of school.

Senior Class Performs

As curtains prepared to close on the last act of the school year, excitement grew to a frenzy. To Seniors, diplomas were just within their grasp. To other students, a long, lazy summer was anticipated.

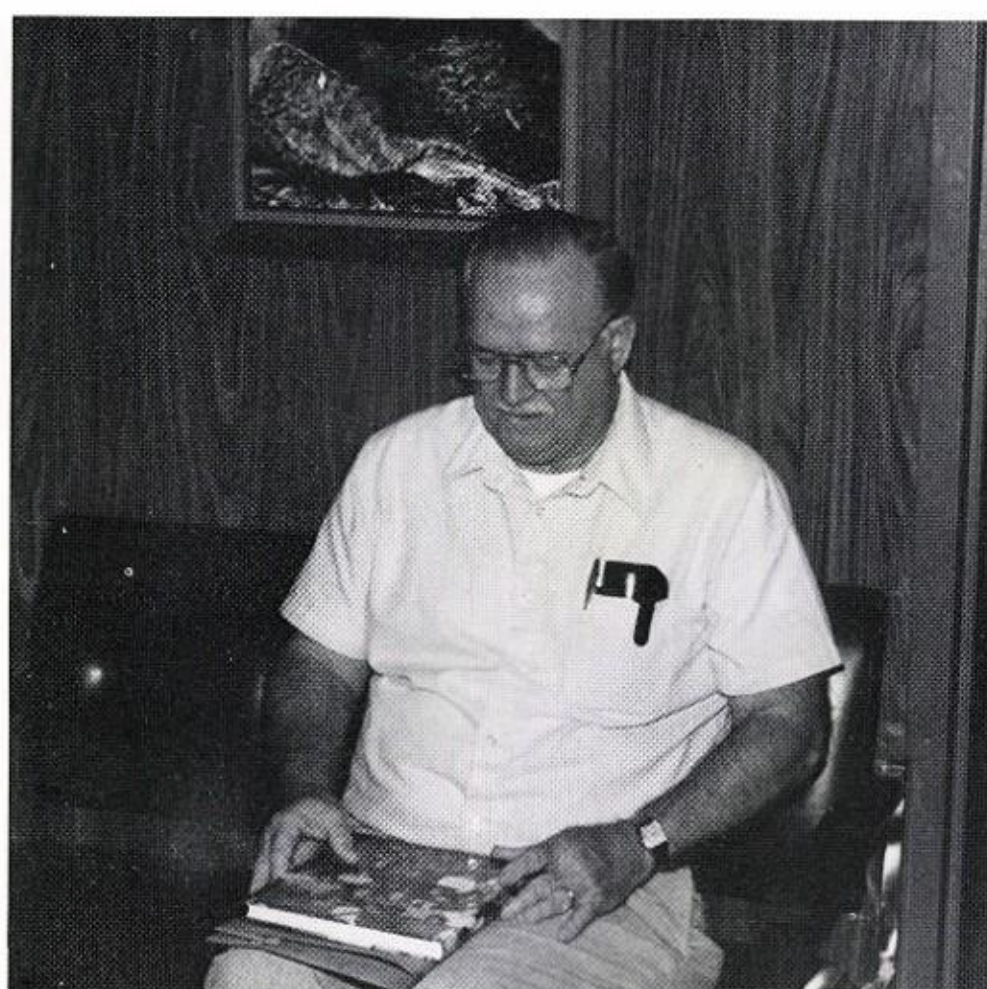

In State Competitions, Amy Slaughter took sixth place in the Mile Run at the State Track Meet; and Andrea Izzo placed first in Editorial Writing, Adam Routon tied for second in Calculator and received third in Number Sense, Erin Swint placed second in Persuasive Speaking, and Liskin Swint received second in Science at the State UIL Meet.

Students took time out of their busy schedules to help other students. Volunteers assisted in Special Olympics held at R.L. Maddox Stadium. The Student Council and Senior Class collected funds for Joe Green Day. Classes donating the most money received free sundaes.

May was also a month of recognition. At the All-Sports Banquet, athletes were honored for all of their hard work. Students were recognized for their dedication in athletic and academic events during the annual Awards Assembly. Receiving the 1986 Yacht dedication, Mr. Joe Clayton said, "It was a real special event in my life."

"What's All this Racket?" Wilhelmina Maxwell (Tina Dollins) complains about the noise in Life O' the Party.

Honored by Class of '86: Mr. Joe Clayton admires the annual dedicated to him by the Senior Class.

(Top) I Can't Believe It's Over: Jeff Schroeder and Cara Scarborough realize the finality of graduation.

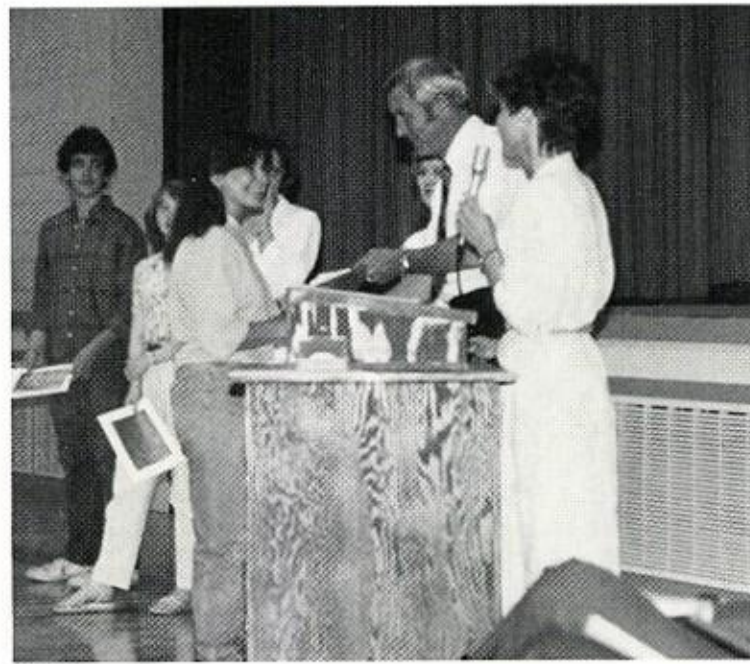

Life O' the Party

Life O' the Party was performed by the Senior Class. As in any theatrical performance, there were problems. Because there were more girls interested in the play than parts, Wilbur Maxwell was changed to Wilhelmina, and Tina Dollins was cast in the part. According to Mrs. Sharon Hindman, "This brilliant move, however, posed some problems, especially since Tina, who was portraying a ten-year-old, was taller than her considerably older sisters." However, the play was a great success.

Once again, the Junior-Senior Prom was held in the Junior High Gym. The theme was "These Dreams." For those still awake, a breakfast followed at Calvary United Methodist Church. As the evening drew to a close, Michael Keith commented that "like all good things, it went as swiftly as it came, but the memories will always reflect that night to remember."

Liskin Swint Named

Doomed from the beginning, students practiced for a ceremony to be held at R.L. Maddox Stadium only to have it moved to the High School Gym at the last minute. Mrs. Sharon Hindman, Senior sponsor, remarked that "early arrivals saw administrators and their wives frantically setting up chairs, speaking systems, etc., while Senior class sponsors were busily arranging diplomas, driving all over Paris looking for sheet music to 'Pomp and Circumstance,' and trying to line up graduates for the procession."

Tracy Brown and Michael McFrazier sang at Commencement Exercises. Liskin Swint, Valedictorian, and Melissa Jensen, Salutatorian, spoke on the class motto, "A journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step." As the end arrived, Seniors completed that step with a diploma in hand.

Looks Like We Made It: Kelli Shawhart, Tina Dollins, Becky Caviness, Carla Winton, and Pam Beshirs prepare for graduation ceremonies.

Thanks for All the Work: Melissa Jensen receives an award from Principal Doug Lane at the annual Awards Assembly.

(Top) For Me? Mrs. Sharon Hindman receives the North Lamar Athletic Booster Club Faculty Award at All Sports Banquet.

Dancing the Night Away: Students take time out for a little fun and relaxation at the Prom.

Helping Others: Sonia McCarty and other volunteers assist in Special Olympics.

Beta Club Members Tour

Free from the obligations of school work, students and faculty members enjoyed the warm days of summer to their fullest.

The North Lamar Wind Ensemble traveled to Austin to compete in the State Solo and Ensemble contest. Taking time out from their busy contest schedule, members also found time for swimming and touring the State Capitol.

Members of Beta Club also had a chance to do some traveling while they journeyed to Washington D.C. for their National Convention. This tour also included stops at Opryland in Nashville, Tennessee, and Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. While in Washington, members participated in the opening ceremonies of the convention, and Michael McFrazier competed in Talent Competition. Returning home, Greg McNeece said, "The memories will last a lifetime. From seeing the Lincoln Memorial at night, to listening to the song 'Nasty' ten thousand times on the bus, none of it will ever be forgotten."

However, all too soon, the summer came to an end. Members of the band, cross-country team, football team, and volleyball team found themselves preparing once again for another school year.

Band Receives

On September 2, the curtains once more opened on the familiar scene of high school students returning to the field of battle. For Freshmen, the excitement of entering high school was an overwhelming activity. For Seniors, it was, as Denise Baker put it, "the beginning of a long awaited end."

Athletics added spice to the routine with volleyball and football getting underway. Commerce traveled to R.L. Maddox Stadium for the first football game of the season just three days after the beginning of school. Inter-county and inter-state rivalries heated as the mighty Panthers prepared to travel to Prairiland and Hugo. The 21-20 win over Prairiland brought enthusiasm to players and fans; however, this victory could not be duplicated.

An air of excitement filled the halls as Homecoming '86 approached. The thrilling subjects of mums, homecoming queens, and decorations were on everyone's mind as September drew to a close.

First Superior

October was a month of drama and horror at North Lamar. Athletic events journeyed into the unknown with teams competing for the first time in AAAA competition. The volleyball team finished its season taking third place in District. Cross Country continued its tradition of winning, bringing home several victories from Pre-District meets. For the first time in North Lamar Band's history, a I rating was achieved at District UIL Marching Contest. This performance also entitled them to travel to Regional Competition. As the month drew to a close, ghosts and goblins filled the halls with Student Council sponsored Dress-up Day.

My Name Is Bond: Jahna Rendsland and Julie Ferris take cover during a half-time show.

Amanda Harris Crowned

With the passing of the first weeks of school, students' thoughts turned to mums and decorations as Homecoming quickly approached. Clubs and organizations spent extra afternoons decorating and preparing for their performances. Not only would they perform for the student body, but also for a number of former students.

The Panthers took the field that night against the Clarksville Tigers. During half-time ceremonies, Amanda Harris was crowned 1986 Homecoming Queen by 1985 Queen, Stacey Campbell. The other nominees presented were Debbie Childers, Amy Foster, Terri LaRue, and Sonia McCarty. However, the second half of the game was not to be festive as the boys in blue suffered a 21-7 defeat.

Following the game, students journeyed to the B-building gym for the dance honoring the players and the new Homecoming Queen. When asked about her evening, Amanda stated, "It was a night that I wanted to last forever. I had to pinch myself to make sure that it wasn't a dream."

Center of Attention: Amanda Harris and her mother, Joan Harris, are all smiles after Amanda is named 1986 Homecoming Queen.

Eight Teachers Creamed by

With students participating in sports events from the very serious to the not so serious, competition seemed to be the key word for November. During the first week, Lamar County got fired up for the first ever Paris High-North Lamar football game. Hoping to help increase school spirit, Math and Science Club sponsored a bonfire before the Junior Varsity game and a spirit chain which stretched around the field during the Varsity game. Faculty members received pies in the face during half time according to how many links were sold.

Continuing the winning tradition on State level, the Girls' Cross Country team brought home another first place trophy. Their second State Championship in two years, the hours of practice finally paid off.

On a lighter note, Junior and Senior girls met head to head for a rough game of Powderpuff football. With the largest participation ever, the game was enjoyed by participants, spectators, and several Junior and Senior guys who served as cheerleaders and majorettes. Rodney Franklin, Senior majorette, said it was the greatest experience he'd ever had while he was, as he put it, "embarrassing myself in front of all my friends." Rusty Walling, Senior coach, however, felt, "The best part of the evening wasn't the 38-26 win in Seniors' favor, but when the other Senior coach, Brett Johnson, almost got ice poured down his back by a mob of cheerleaders."

March in Christmas Parade

It was beginning to look a lot like Christmas during the month of December with members of Student Council decking the halls and putting everyone in a festive mood. With the holiday season well underway, band and drama students marched in the Paris Christmas Parade. Band member Tisha Ricketson remarked a few days later, "I thought my legs would never thaw out." Other students spent their time attending club parties and participating in service projects such as collecting food for the needy and ringing bells for the Salvation Army.

Basketball continued throughout the month. Players, coaches, and fans got fired up for district play which would begin in January.

With the third week came the beginning of Christmas vacation. Students and faculty members enjoyed the break from normal routine; however, all too soon it came to an end and preparation was started for the last half of the school year.

"Is It Straight?" Erin Swint prepares the Math and Science Club bulletin board for December.

Leading the Way: Gena Coursey, Assistant Drum Major, leads the band in the Paris Christmas Parade.

(Top) Mmm-mmm Good: Mrs. Ralphann Moffitt prepares to pass out sweets at Yacht Staff Christmas party.

Beta Talent Group Wins

On the second day of January, students and teachers reluctantly returned to North Lamar. After Christmas break, the remaining months seemed to stretch on forever, but with the second week came semester exams marking the half-way point of the school year.

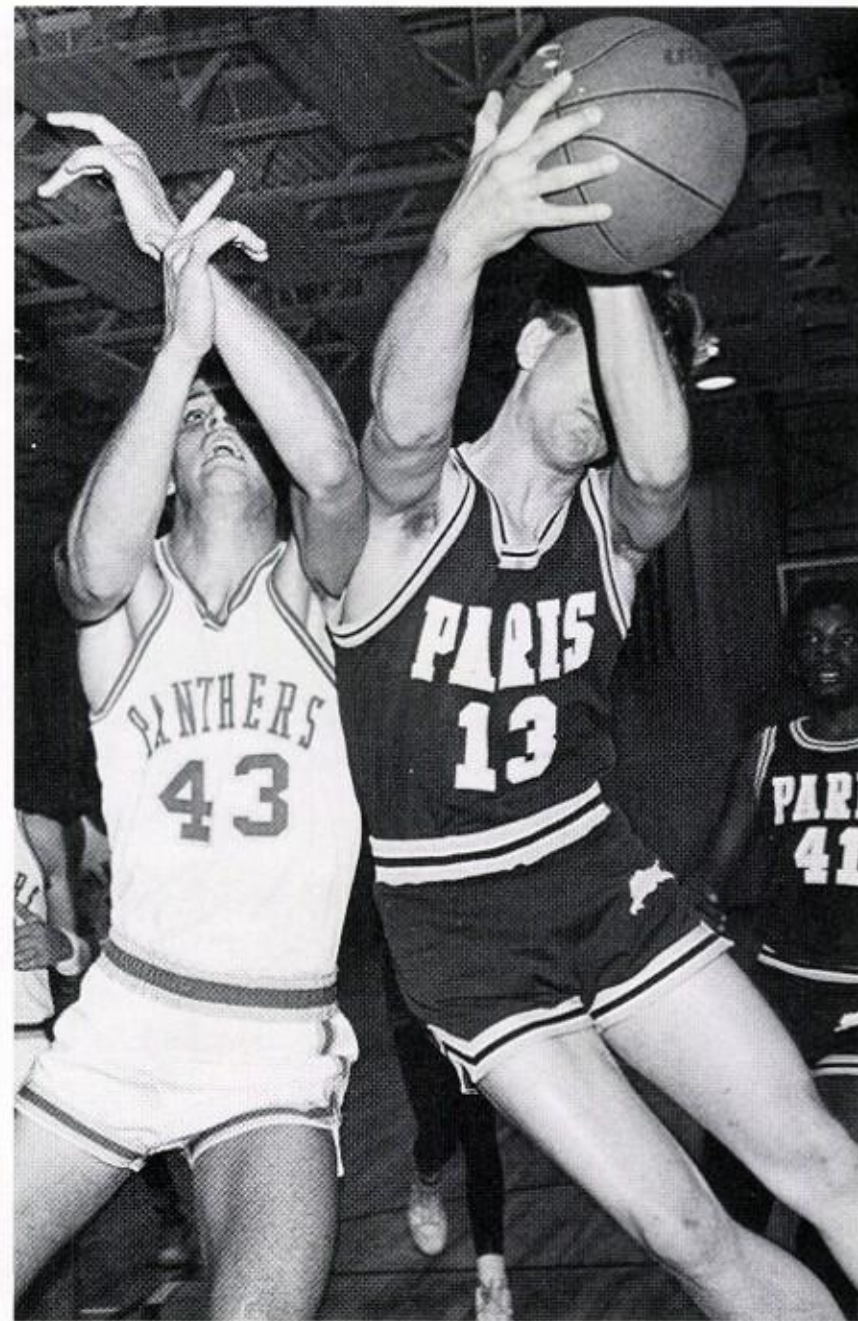

For Beta members, January was a full month with initiation of new members held on January 12. The following weekend, a group of students traveled to Fort Worth to the State Convention. For the fourth year in a row, North Lamar won the State Talent competition entitling the eight-person group to travel to Kentucky in June to compete at the National Convention. Members also participated in the opening ceremony, and State Vice-President, Erin Swint, presided over the closing session.

Comedy, drama, and suspense were the key words for the English III Honors class taught by Mrs. Sharon Hindman. Students wrote, directed, produced, and starred in To Die Laughing. Weeks of preparation paid off when it was presented to members of the student body, faculty, and friends in an evening performance.

Basketball continued through January and ended in February. Faithful fans filled the stands at every game, giving support to Boys' and Girls' teams.

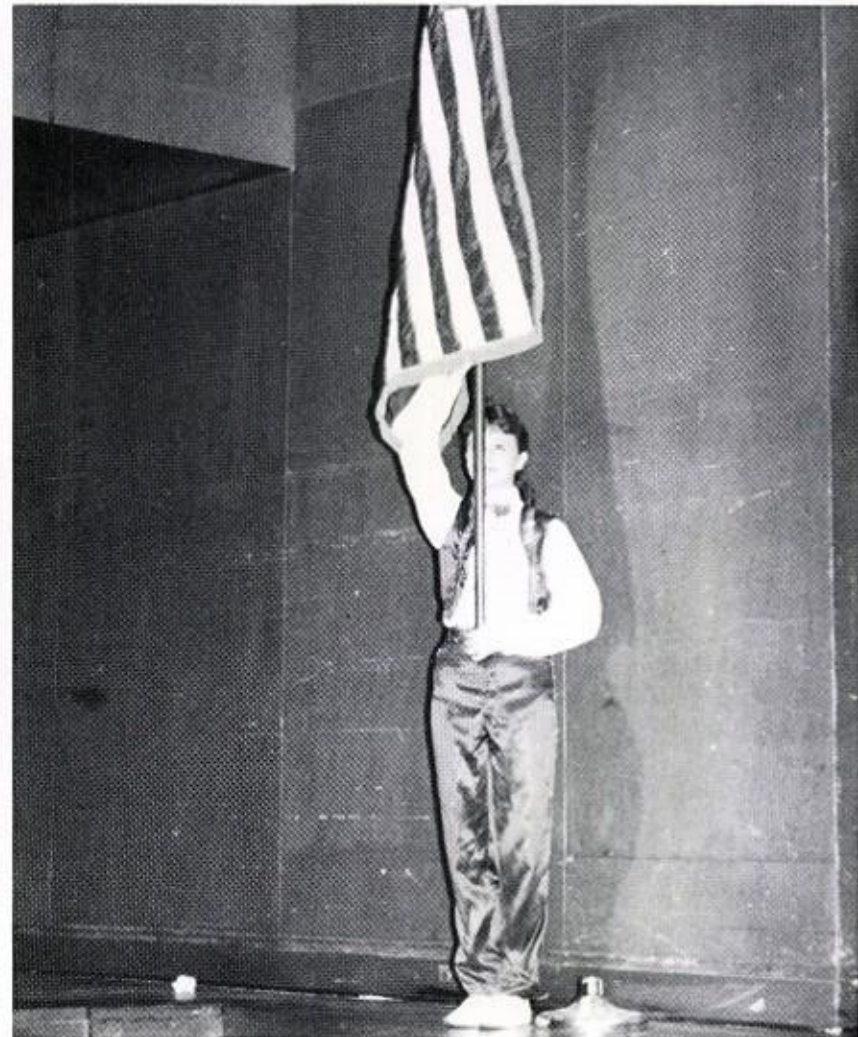

UIL academic competitions got geared up as students practiced after school and attended meets all over the area on weekends. The team won numerous first places and sweepstake trophies in preparation for the District meet to be held in March.

Love was in the air in February as Valentine's Day approached. The annual Valentine Pageant was sponsored by Student Council. Cards, flowers, and chocolate candy to be given to a favorite sweetheart were on everyone's mind.

Boarding the Boat: Jeanne Hendricks (Cindy Weaver), Jeff Hendricks (Erik Moore), Harvey Wallbanger (Shane Halcomb), and Jessica Gray (Shawna Cook), have a discussion while boarding the Playmate III in To Die Laughing.

America's Cup Comes Home

With the intensified lines of communication in the world today, news travels exceptionally fast. Sometimes, the news doesn't seem important at the time, but it has an effect on student life, whether directly or indirectly.

During the 1986-'87 school year, the power of United States diplomatic relations has been severely questioned. With some sort of foreign hostage situation every day, the populace has shunned travel out of the states. Left-wing terrorists cause fear with their radical actions and are a constant threat to the Reagan administration.

On a more local level, the state has faced severe budget problems that newly-elected Governor Clements has pledged to solve. With the severe oil crunch and rising unemployment, Texas is looking for a new source of income.

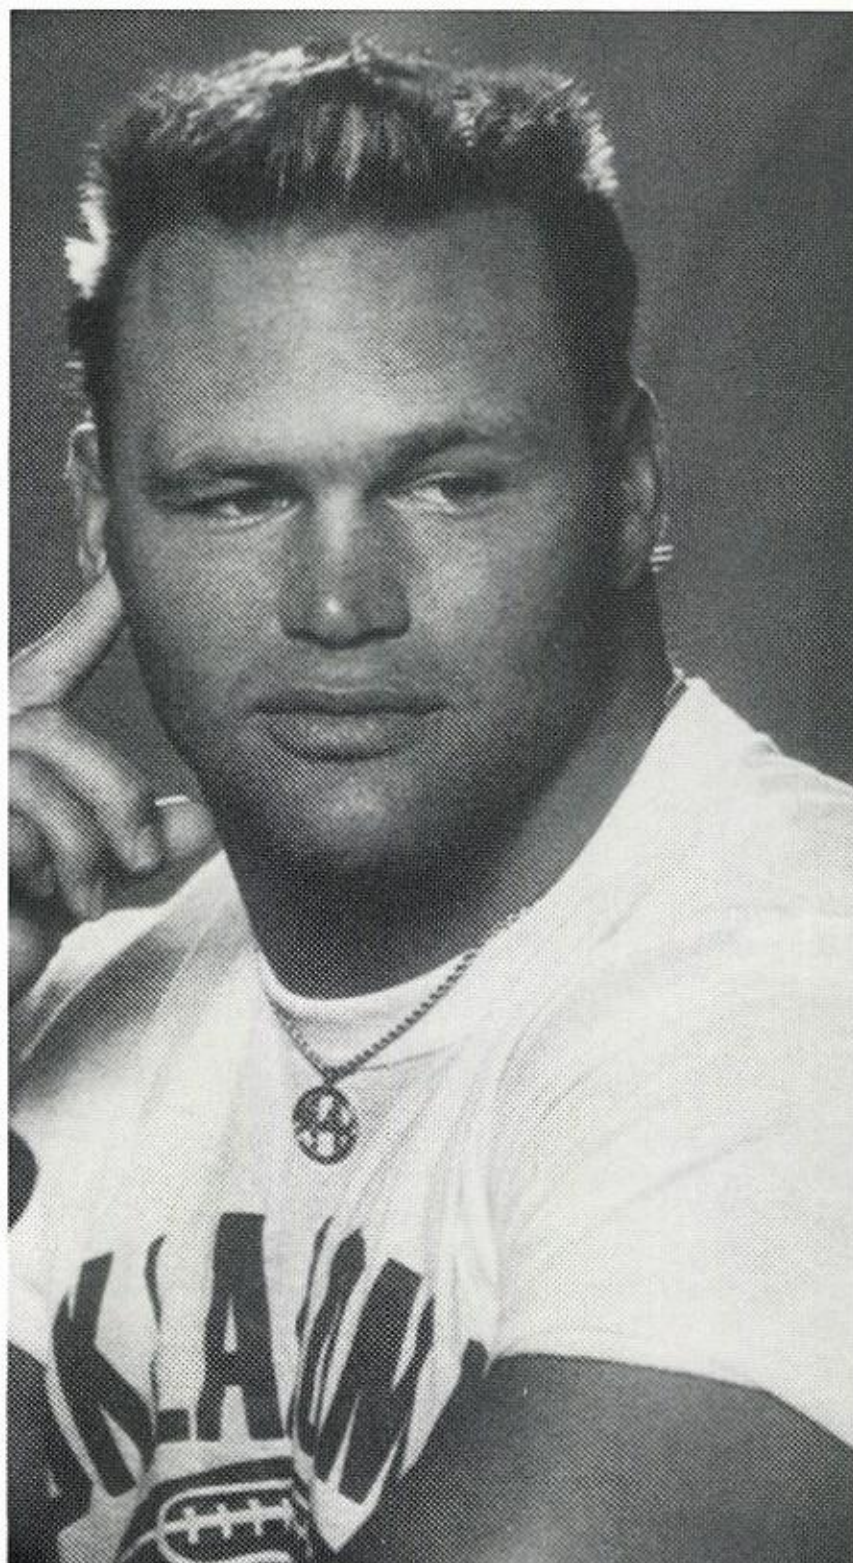

In the wide world of sports, athletic stars have faced new rulings about the abuse of drugs. Drug tests have become mandatory and have caused many athletes to be ousted from their respective events.

Regardless of the disappointments, the emotional success of seeing the America's Cup come home was a fitting finish to a year of determination. The winning of the Stars and Stripes proved that American pride still flourishes in a world full of trials and tribulations.

(Top) Stars and Stripes: Dennis Conner, skipper of the Stars and Stripes, waves to crowds welcoming home the America's Cup winner.

Cruise down Lamar Avenue on any given night, and the latest top 10 song will be blasting from someone's car. Drive by the Cinema or the Grand, and there is a long line of people waiting to see that movie with the good-looking guy or girl in it.

Over Coca-Cola in Poll

Waking up on a dreary Monday morning, the first thing to come to any student's mind is what to wear to school that day. For some, not too much thought is put into their attire. One student said that he merely "reached into the closet, grabbed something out, and wore the first outfit that matched." Others may carefully plan each costume down to the last detail.

Starting at the head of things, hair played an important part in the fashion scene this year. Bows, banana clips, and other decorative hair pieces could be found on almost every girl with at least medium length hair.

With the big hit of Coca-Cola clothes, other snack foods came out with their own lines. Soon Tostitos, Doritos, and Ruffles shirts filled the halls and classrooms. Instead of eating chips this year, students wore them.

Suspenders made a popular entry into things and helped hold up pants of every description. Getting back to the basics, overalls were also found in many people's wardrobes.

Other accessories this year included lace collars and metallic purses and shoes. These items gave sparkle and class to many ensembles.

The great variety of costumes adding color to North Lamar are vital to the never-ending plot and demonstrate each cast member's taste. Because of this expression of individuality, the costumes worn are an important part of the story line of this drama. For without the individuals, there could be no production.

(Top) Ruffles Have Ridges: Debbie Childers displays her sweatshirt.
Talking It Over: Shannon Fendley shows off her lace bow while talking to Lisa Moore in Government.

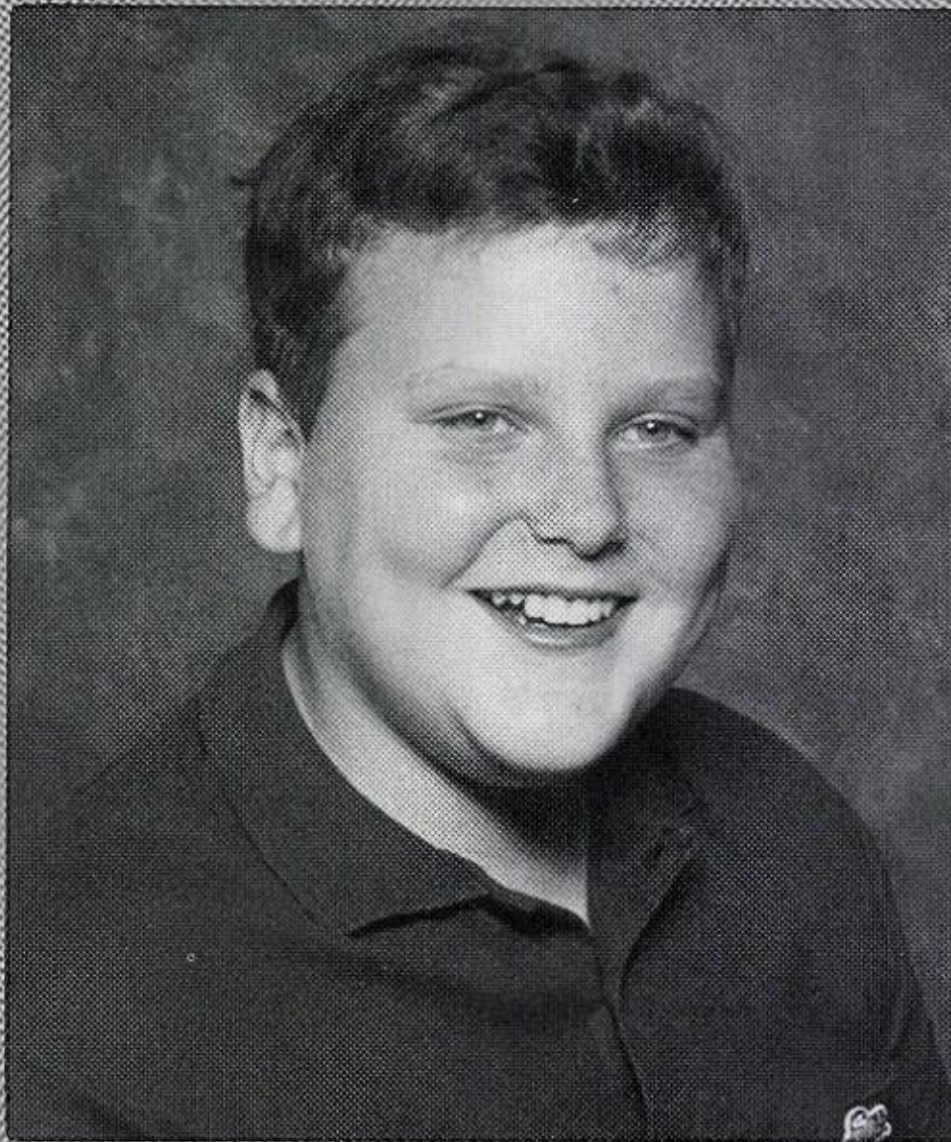

Gotcha: Stacy Denney takes time out to pop Denise Baker's suspenders.

A Touch of Class: Stephanie Blackard adds variety to an outfit with the addition of a lace collar.

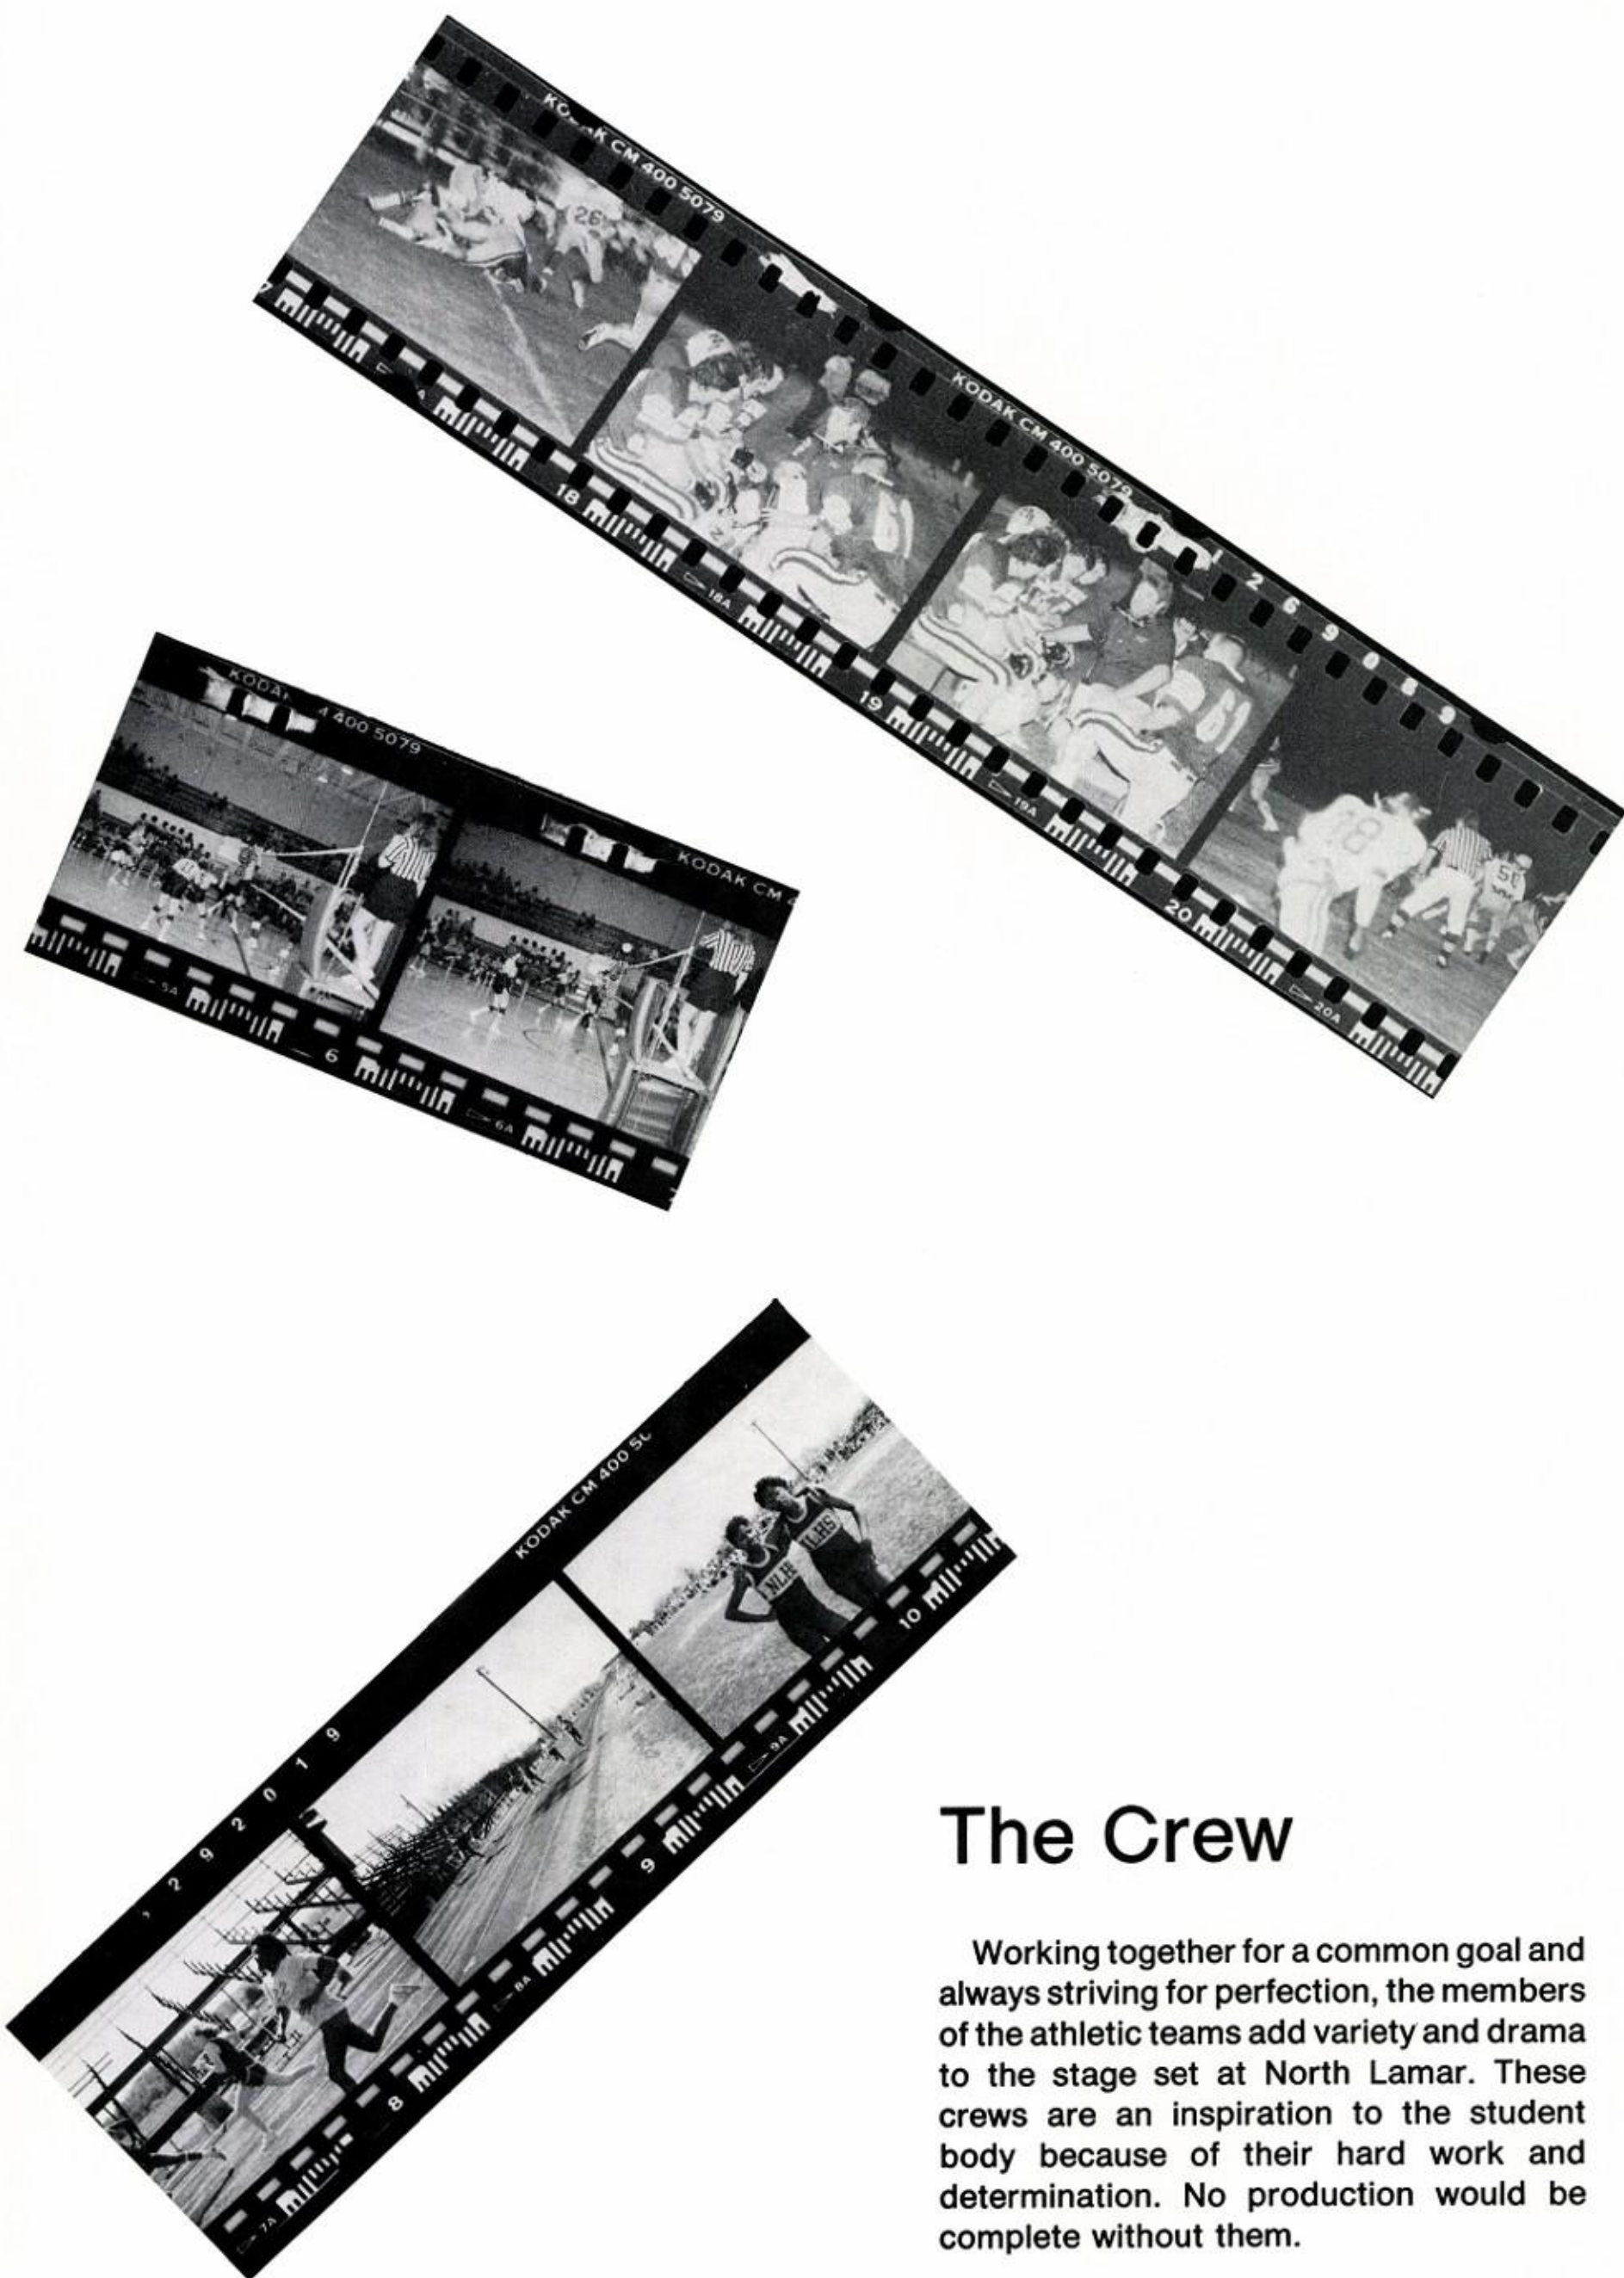

HE KNOCKED ON HEAVEN'S DOOR

Today he knocked on heaven's door
And was accepted in,
Jesus gained a Helper:
Today we lost a friend.

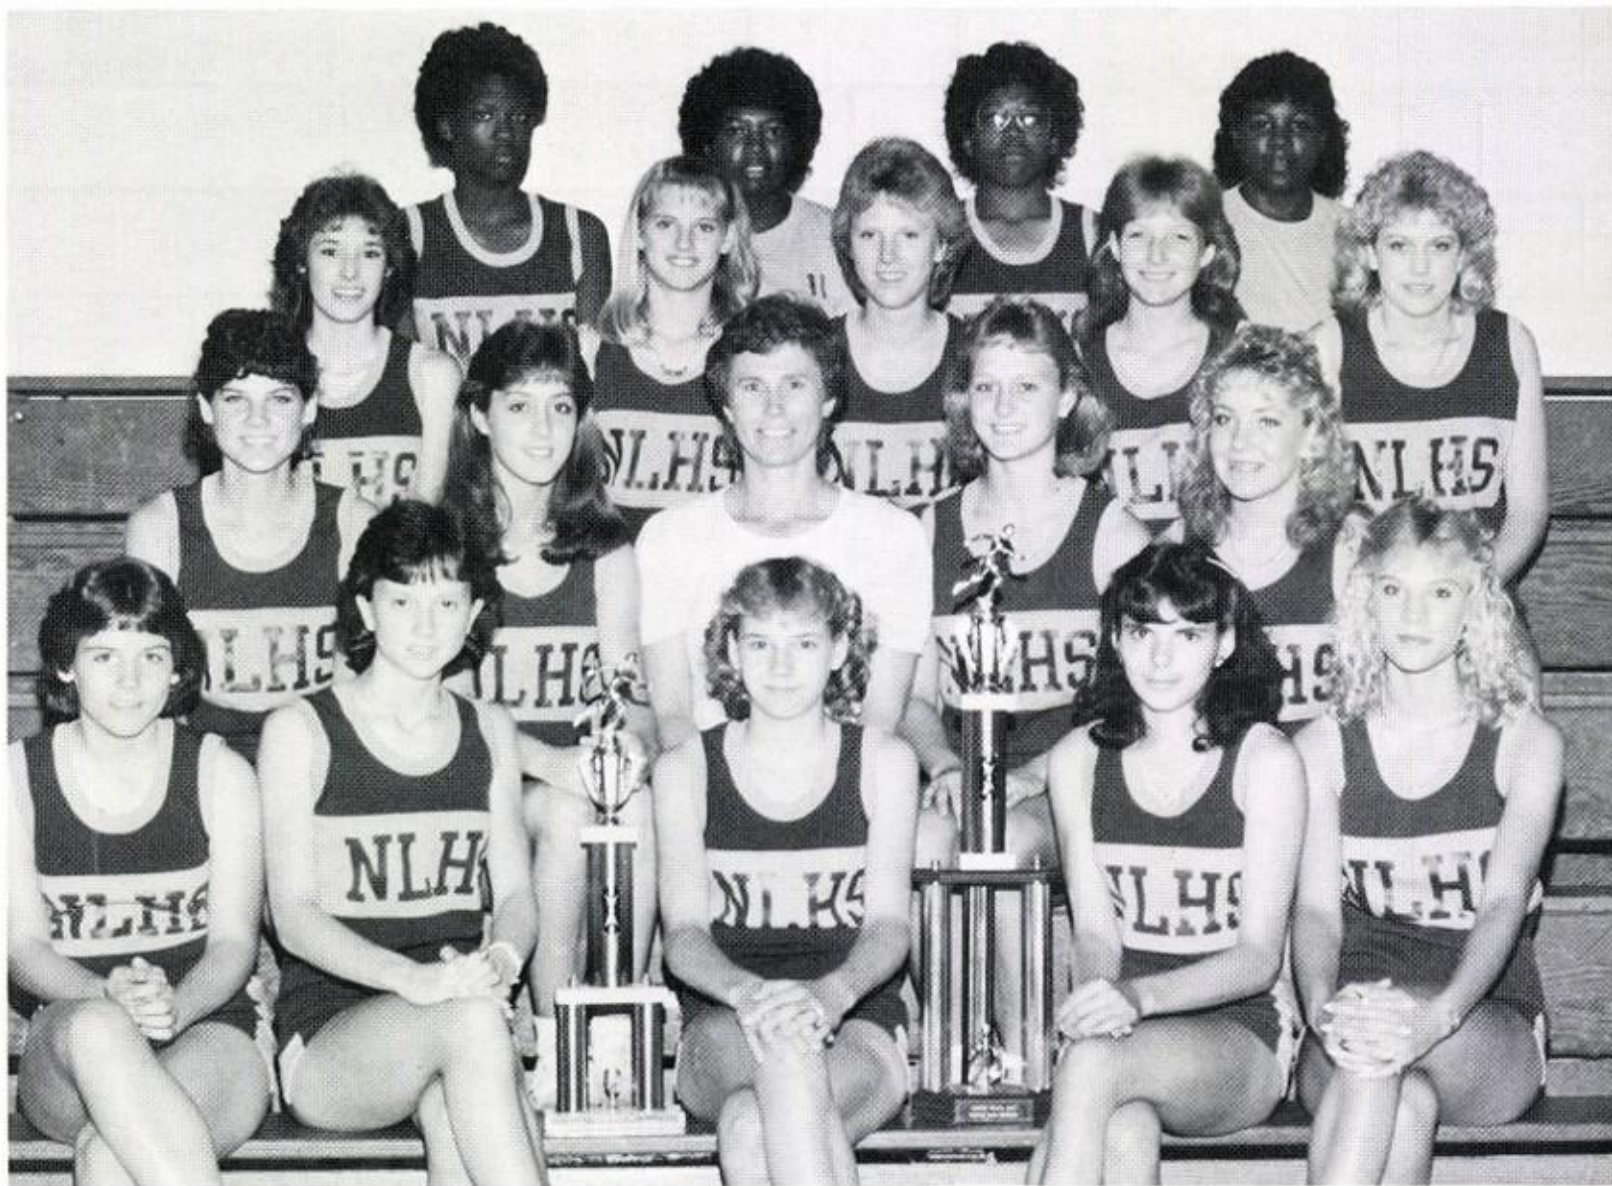

David Joseph Nelson
November 12, 1969 - July 25, 1986

Perhaps few experiences in life can be as shocking as the loss of a good friend. Such was the case during the summer of 1986 as our friend and classmate, David Nelson, passed away, the victim of an untimely farm accident. Always a cheerful companion, he would greet his friends with the quick wit and winning smile for which he was so well known and appreciated. It was David's serious determination that helped him to excel in both academics and sports. A serious competitor, he was an honors student and a football player, giving his all to his classmates and teammates both on and off the field. A dedicated student, a tough competitor, a loyal friend - these are but a few of the many facets of David's personality for which he will be remembered by students and faculty alike.

The Crew

Working together for a common goal and always striving for perfection, the members of the athletic teams add variety and drama to the stage set at North Lamar. These crews are an inspiration to the student body because of their hard work and determination. No production would be complete without them.

Girls Finish First in District

On your mark. Get set. Go. They did go with the Pantherette Track Team entering seven meets during its '86 season and bringing home four first places, including the District Title.

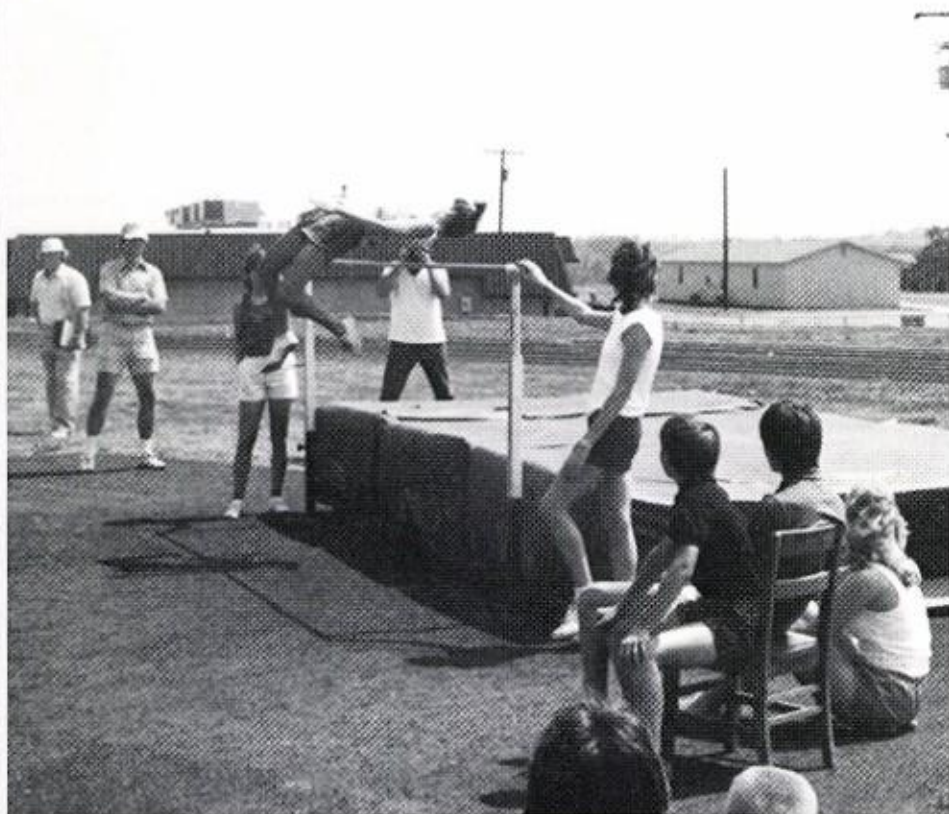

The team sent its Mile Relay Team and six individual events to the Regional meet. Freshman Amy Slaughter placed second in Regional in the Mile Run which permitted her to travel to the state meet where she took sixth place.

Handing Off: Rebecca Ricketson hands Sabra Lands the baton.

Hoping for First: Jami Milton prepares to take the baton from Stephanie Anderson.

Preparing to Throw: Melanie Poole prepares to toss the Discus.

Up and Away: Julie Johnson manages a good toss in Discus Competition.

With the beginning of spring, members of the Tennis Team took to the courts. During the '86 season, the team entered three meets, including the District meet. David Jordt and Jarret Workman placed third in Doubles competition qualifying them to be alternates to the Regional meet. Randy Ballard, a new teacher at North Lamar was asked to coach the tennis team. During his first year, the team grew from three to twelve members.

9-4 District Season

Under the leadership of Coaches George and Allen, the 1986 Baseball season opened on a good attitude. With seven returning varsity members, the ball club journeyed to local schools in preparation for district action. After a month of pre-district play and an encouraging 7-4 record, competition began for eight schools trying for the district title. Throughout the weeks to follow, it became clear that North Lamar was definitely a team to be serious about. With a four-game winning streak in the first half of district play, Panthers fell to Prairiland, the district favorite. After recovering from defeat, the team went on to take four more district victories and finish the season with a 9-4 district record and a 16-9 season record.

Up in the Air: Panther hitter, Stephen Bush, gets off the ground in his attempt to reach first base.

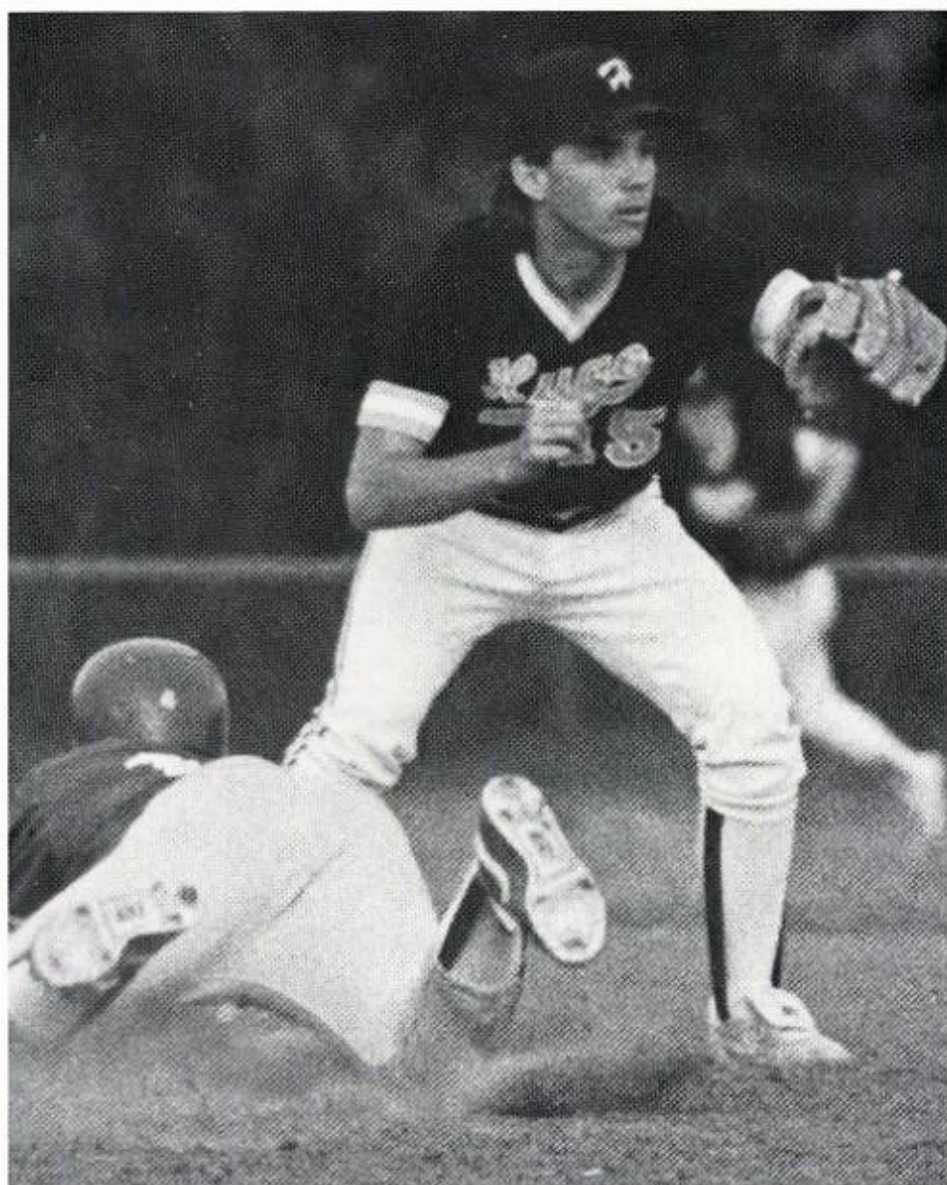

Back in Time: Toby Deupree goes into a head-first slide as the Panthers slip by Broken Bow 3-2.

You're Covered: Second baseman, Stephen Jones, goes for the out during pre-season play.

Second Base: Hugo second baseman, Terry Cayton looks for the ball as an unknown Panther slides in.

Too Close: Chad Fleming safely reaches third base as his opponent goes for the ball.

Panthers Endure 1-9 Season

With hot August sun high over head, the mighty Panthers took the field of battle once again. Moving up to AAAA competition, it was known a hard battle would have to be fought all season long. However, as the summer workouts drew to a close and school began, spirits were high with hopes of victories to come.

On September 5, the Commerce team pulled into R.L. Maddox Stadium. The Panthers clawed for every yard they could, but it was not meant to be. The Tigers left with a 20-0 victory.

Tension mounted the following week as attention turned to cross-county rival Prairiland. The defeat in '85 by the Prairiland Patriots had been a bitter pill to swallow, and Panther Pride was riding on this one. The stands were filled with fiery fans who watched a brilliant battle. They were not to be disappointed, for when the buzzer sounded, North Lamar held its head up high with a 21-20 win.

Switching from inter-county to inter-state competition, the boys in blue and gold traveled to Hugo, Oklahoma, the next week. Fresh off one victory and hungry for more, their appetite could not be satisfied when a 12-7 loss dampened their spirits.

Excitement built as Homecoming drew closer. Fans and team members hoped they could "drop the bomb" on the Clarksville Tigers. Although ex-students returning to North Lamar brought cheers and excitement, there was no celebration of a victory that night. They fell once more with a score of 21-7.

Boarding the bus for a meeting with some Wildcats in Sulphur Springs, the guys in gold looked for what they hoped would be another victory before District play began. A long and intensive battle followed, but the momentum just wasn't there. The Wildcats scratched their way to the top of this cat fight with the final score of 44-7.

Entering District play, the Panthers were on the road again to meet the West Mesquite Wranglers. Determined to prove themselves in their new district, confidence was high as the fighting Panthers took the field. West Mesquite proved to be too tough for them when they tied up our brave boys in blue and rode away with a 23-0 victory.

With both first and second string quarterbacks out with injuries, things looked grim when the No. 1 ranked McKinney Lions stalked into town. Believing a Lion's roar is always worse than its bite, the Panthers were positive as they entered no man's land. As the combat continued, morale became low. Although McKinney's mistakes and a strong drive in the third quarter brought a touchdown, the final score of 56-6 was disheartening.

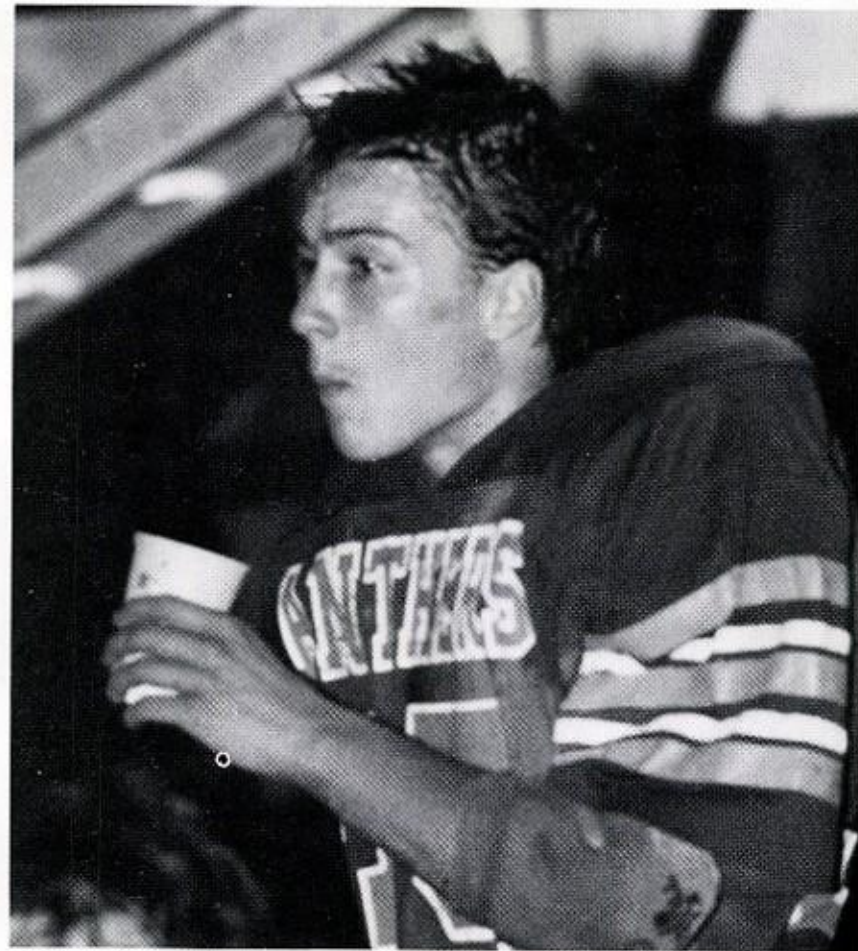

Trying to forget the defeat the previous week, the Panthers concentrated on their next opponent, the Terrell Tigers. Disappointment once more showed its head, for when it was all said and done, they saw a 40-8 defeat.

Travelling to Rockwall, a resolute team trudged forward to try and put one over on the Yellowjackets. Though a tough fight was fought, the Panthers were left calling for a can of Raid when they got stung 38-0.

After their defeat of the McKinney Lions, the Paris High Wildcats were out for blood in the game some termed to be the "Superbowl of Lamar County." Prowling into R.L. Maddox Stadium, the Wildcats were greeted by an aggressive team of Panthers supported by a full house of fans. The fur flew with both teams playing a strong game, but when the last buzzer sounded on the football season, a 28-16 defeat was beheld by the blue and gold.

The 1-9 record is not outstanding, but North Lamar can be proud of its Panthers. Through it all, they held their heads high and proved once again what champions they really are.

Up and Over: Bunny Gladden attempts to get the ball over the net.

Beginning workouts in the middle of August, Pantherette Volleyball team members started a season that would prove to be a successful one. During September and October, members traveled to many schools around the area to participate in games and tournaments. Varsity team ended the season in a tie with Paris and McKinney for district runner-up. A play-off was held with Pantherettes winning over Paris but losing to McKinney. Several members were selected for All-District honors with Bunny Gladden named to first team; Terri LaRue, Tralisa Risinger, and Danna Norwood named to second team; and Kelly Barolet named honorable mention.

Freshman and Junior Varsity teams also had a good season. Freshman team's record was 13-5, and Junior Varsity was the District Champion with an 8-2 district record.

Girls Take State Championship

Long before the beginning of school, members of the Boys' and Girls' Cross-Country teams could be seen running the back roads of Lamar County in preparation for the up-coming season. The hours of road work paid off with the girls continuing their undefeated record and bringing home another State Championship. The Boys' team also got a taste of victory when they placed sixth in Region and sent Karry Mullens to compete in the State meet. Several members of the Girls' team made the All-State Team. These members included Amy Slaughter, Sabra Lands, and Patti Proctor.

JV Defeats Paris 43-36

With an energetic varsity team consisting of three seniors, three juniors, three sophomores, and two freshmen, a 15-11 record was a definite moral victory for the first season in AAAA district competition. With the first game in November, the two months of rigorous practice and intense competition had its ups and downs during this difficult season.

Not to be overlooked, Junior Varsity and Freshman teams worked many hours in preparation for their competitions. A JV season record of 18-3 gave hope for an excellent season next year. Experience was gained by the Freshman team with a record of 9-5.

Let Me Have It: Julie Johnson (#40) fights for possession of the ball.

With the return of Roy Tom Stone as boys' basketball coach, the season dawned bright for the reputation of a coach that had the state runner-up team in 1981. After coaching the PJC Lady Dragons, Stone moved back to North Lamar to mold another state-winning team.

However, this was not to be the year. With only two returning varsity cagers and a handful of juniors and sophomores, inexperience proved to be a key element in the disheartening defeats. The added problem of dealing with the more powerful AAAA schools made supporters wonder about the value of being in a larger classification.

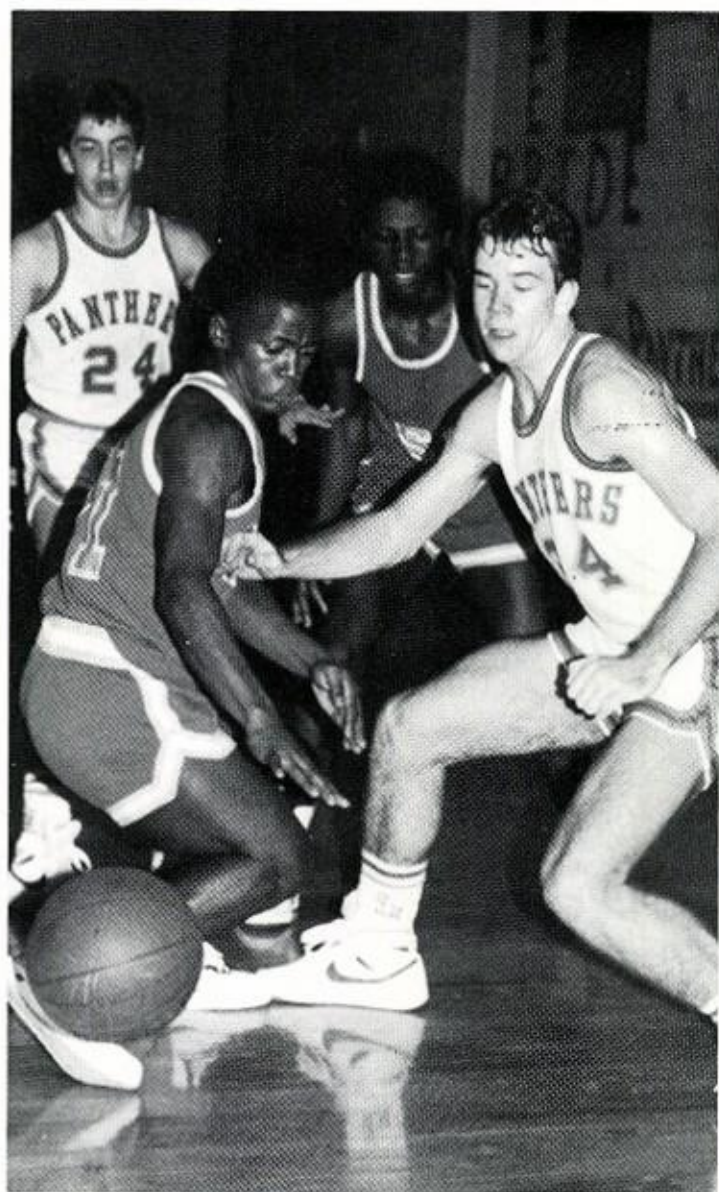

Valuable spirit came from the newly-formed "Bleacher Bums." Students sat in specified areas, wore t-shirts, and yelled their heads off. Thus, a new enthusiasm crept into basketball games that resulted in a standing-room only crowd at the season's final game.

Nowhere to Go: In pre-district play against Sulphur Springs, Corey Young (#32) looks for two points.

Coaches Devote Extra Hours

Putting in many extra hours, the coaching staff of the athletics department gives encouragement and shares their expertise with the players of the teams of North Lamar. After school practices and competitions take up much time on the part of the students and faculty members and often result in many positive experiences. The tradition of winning is not only reflected in the scores from the games and meets, but can also be measured in the positive attitudes, exciting times, and the steadfast determination of everyone involved. Although the final score may not reflect a victory in the record book, the teaching of young people how to compete with dignity and pride is an accomplishment in itself.

Tempting Treats: Coach Alden George samples goodies from the teachers lounge during Christmas.

The Directors

Without a professional approach, the stage would be limp and lifeless. There would be no spice in everyday activities, and action would be out of the picture completely. Somehow overcoming mountains of paper work, the Directors dedicate their lives to young people. They never lose faith, even when their methods are doubted and their competency is tested.

Superintendents and School Board

Leaders For The Community

Texas education has undergone major educational reforms during the school year. With the concern of the superintendents and school board, the faculty and student population is always informed and allowed to receive benefits from new educational policies. The administration is concerned and exerts special energy to see that changes are for the benefit of the school district.

Principals

Dedicated To Serving Youth

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Mrs. Brown and the North Lamar Yacht Staff upon successful completion of the 1987 Yacht.

North Lamar has experienced substantial student growth during the past two years. With this growth, the responsibilities of the Yacht Staff have increased to continue to provide a quality yearbook that will remain for posterity.

It has been a pleasure for me to work with a fine young group of people that has demonstrated ability and dedication to such a noble cause.

Doug Lane

Assistant Principal is Mr. Thomas Moffitt.

Languages

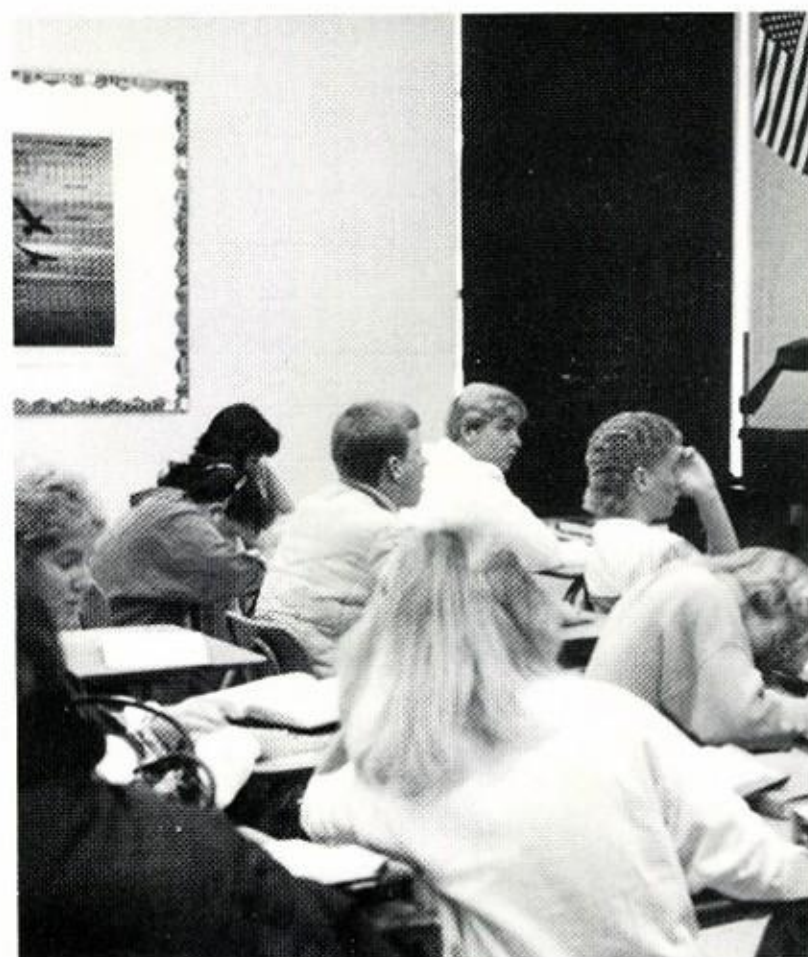

The Keys of Communication

From French to Spanish to English, the language teachers strive to teach their students valuable communication skills through both oral and written work. However, no matter how hard students and faculty members strive to keep the lines of communication open, occasionally a problem occurs.

One example occurred in a French I class when Ms. Bryant was giving the oral questions on a chapter test. In her attempts to have several reasonable but incorrect answers, she ended up with "Il est nu a Nouvelle Orleans." As an answer to "Where is he from?" Ms. Bryant commented that her students found "He is nude in New Orleans," a "rather humorous choice."

Another misconception occurred when a Spanish student was asked if he had "chicle" (gum) in his mouth. He replied that he did have "chica" (girl) in his mouth. Naturally, the class roared.

Regardless of the misunderstandings, faculty members find teaching an enjoyable experience. As Mrs. Hindman said, "In essence, teaching at North Lamar is most unforgettable!"

Mathematics

$$a^2 + b^2 = c^2$$

Arithmetic is numbers you squeeze from your head to your hand to your pencil to your paper til you get an answer.

Arithmetic is where the answer is right and everything is nice and you can look out the window and see the blue sky - or the answer is wrong and you have to start all over and try again and see how it comes out this time.

Carl Sandburg

Anyone who has ever been in school knows the frustrations and joys that come from mathematics. After working a problem six times and coming up with six different answers, it seems nothing can be worse, but when the pieces of the puzzle finally fit together, it all seems worth your trouble.

The same can be said for teaching the subject as well as learning it. There are daily trials and tribulations as bad as any homework problem that teachers must face; however, some of them can get pretty humorous.

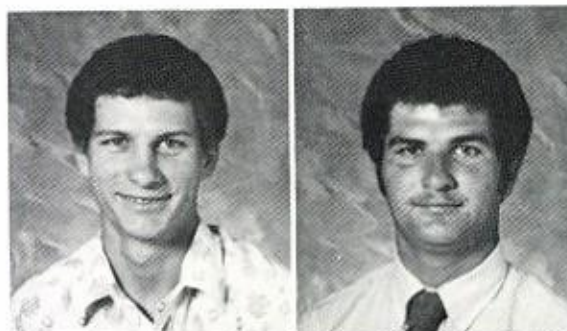

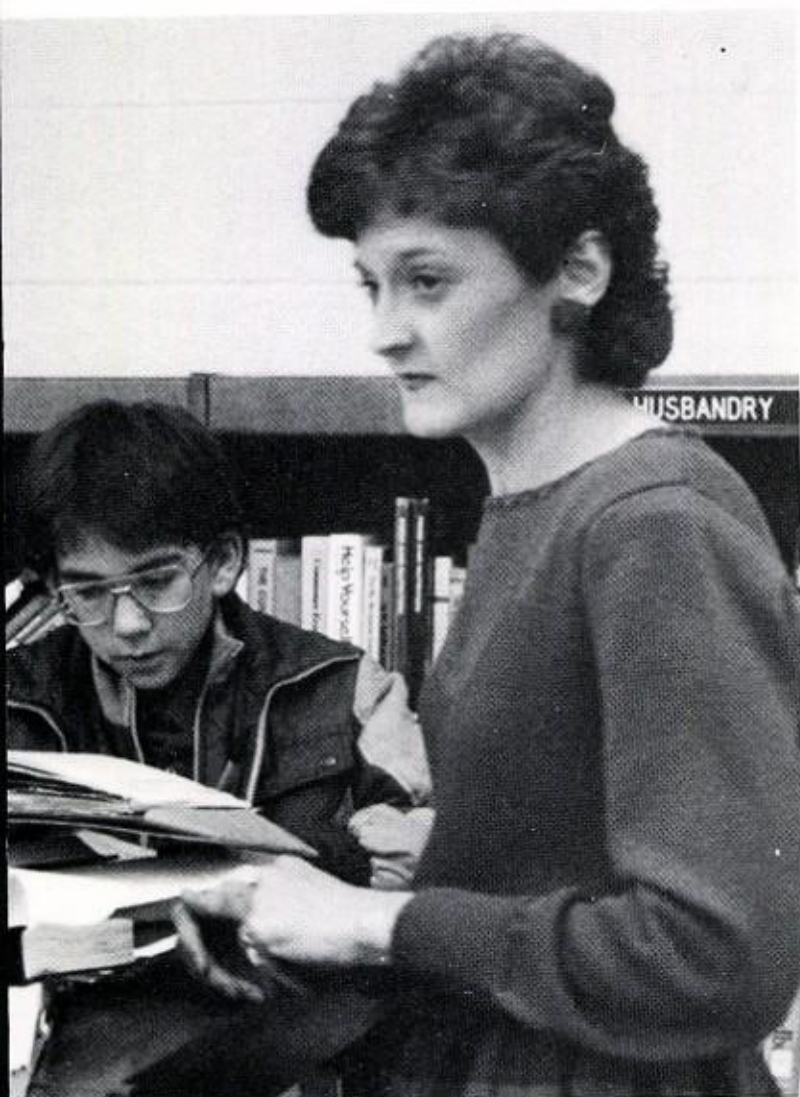

For example, there is the case of the missing Computer Math Class. Because another class needed the computers, Computer Math was to move to a classroom in the B Building. Messages got mixed up, and when Mrs. Stewart arrived, she found only two people there. After several minutes hunting, with the aid of Mr. Hodgkiss, the class was found in A Building, "patiently waiting and wondering where I was."

"How Did That Happen?" Mrs. Kathy Stewart gives Terri LaRue, Brett Johnson, and Erik Moore a helping hand on their Computer program.

Another problem teachers encounter and fear are slips of the tongue. Mr. David Ballard made an unfortunate mistake one day while trying to recruit people to join TAFE. After really building up the organization and the use of teacher's aides, he said, "A lot of the teachers here have aides." His students, reading another meaning into it, burst out laughing, and looking back now, so does he. As Mr. Ballard said, "That's part of school, I guess, just having fun."

Science

Experience the Experiment

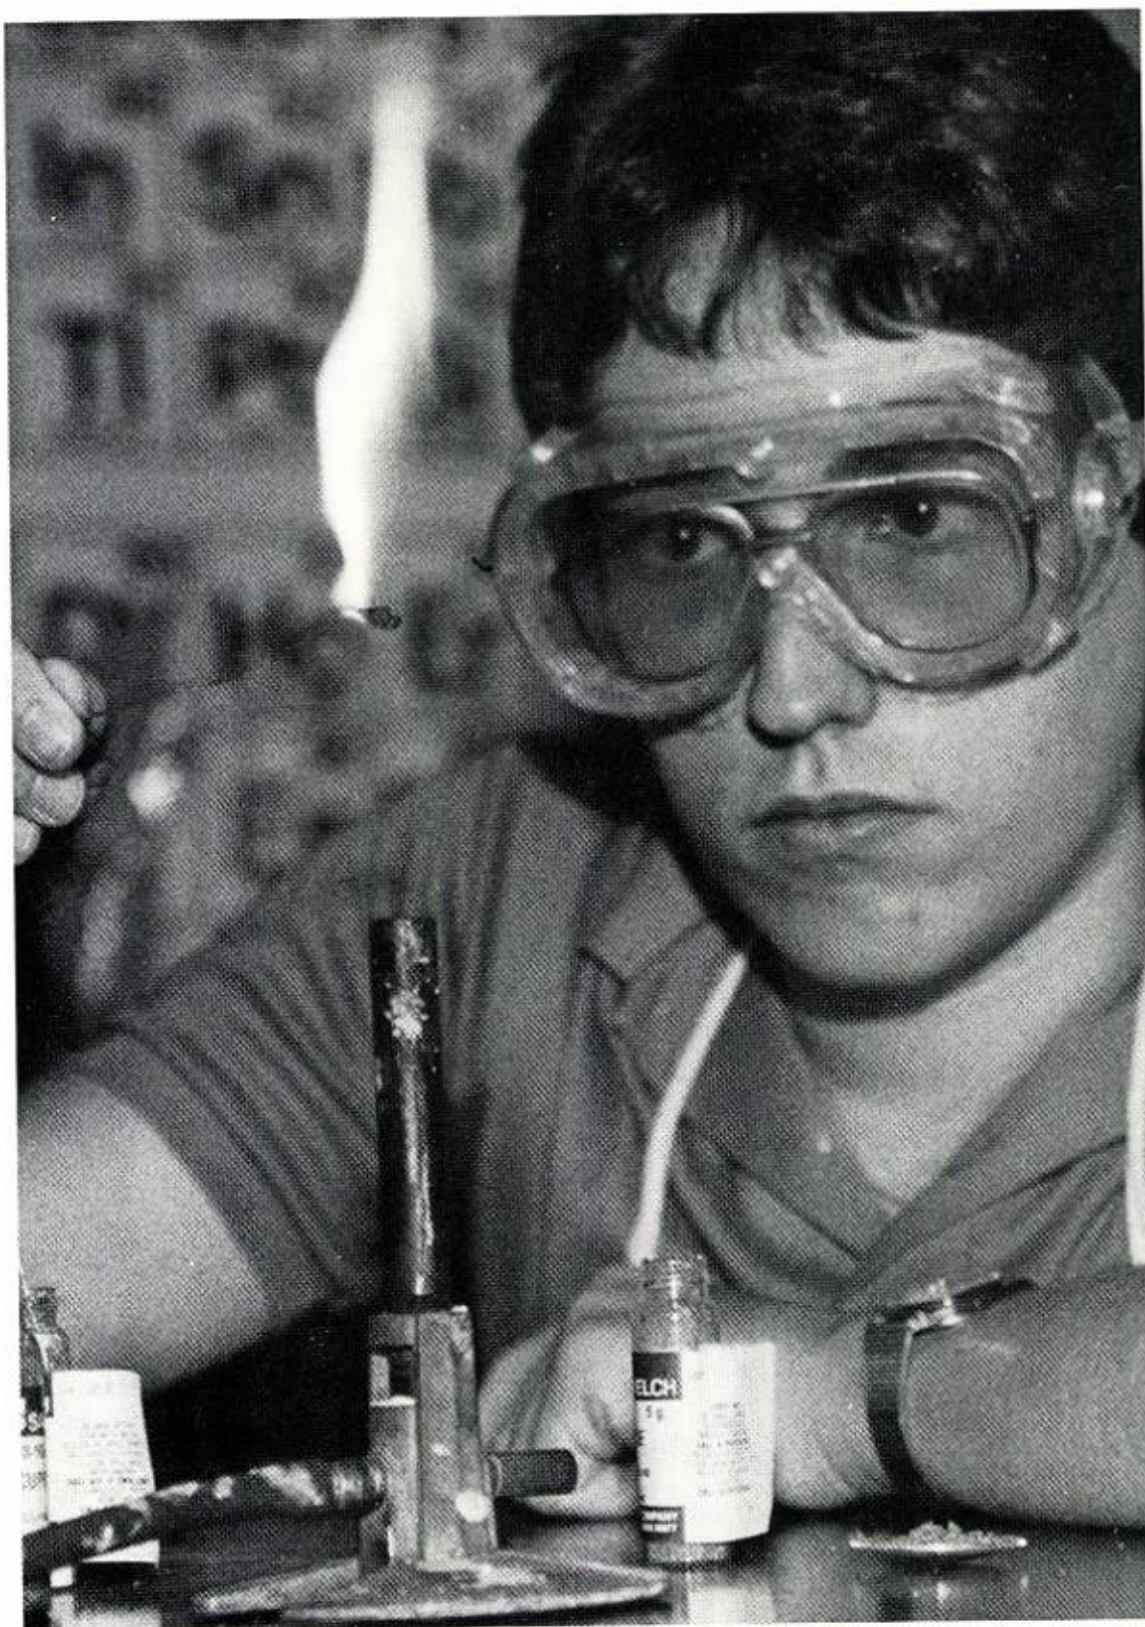

Earth. There are still questions asked about it everyday. In order to find the answers, people must be trained in the fields of science. Students who go on to such professions must first learn the basics from classes such as physical science, Biology I, and chemistry. These provide a solid background for all students, even future Einsteins.

Laboratory classes have an infamous reputation for creating strange happenings. Around Christmas time, Chemistry students attempted to create the ever popular peanut brittle. It should have been called peanut brutal, because Curtis Freeman became mixed up about the ingredients. He substituted salt for sugar.

As the bell rings to change classes, cries of "Yuck!" and "What is that smell?" can be heard echoing through the hallway. A peculiar odor has settled in, and students realize that the freshmen are doing that "rotten egg" experiment.

In spite of the peculiar happenings in the chemistry lab, a walk across the hall will reveal biological occurrences every day. Biology I teacher Sheila Daughtrey, encourages students to bring live specimens to class. She recalled one incident that turned bravery into sheer fright. "I remember when Brett Johnson got brave enough to let our tarantula crawl up his bare arm. Poor Brett - he was as white as a sheet when it stopped and rested on his arm. The creeping, hairy walking wasn't nearly as bad as anticipating a big bite."

Breaking up the monotony of normal routine, science classes offer a source of learning and enjoyment mixed together to form an adequate background for a future technological society.

Social Studies

My Country Tis of Thee

BYRD, RICHARD - Advanced and Regular Government, UIL Debate

CHAMBLESS, ASA - Basic and Regular American History, World History, Varsity Athletics
HODGKISS, DENNIS - Honors, Advanced, and Regular American History, Key Club, UIL Journalism

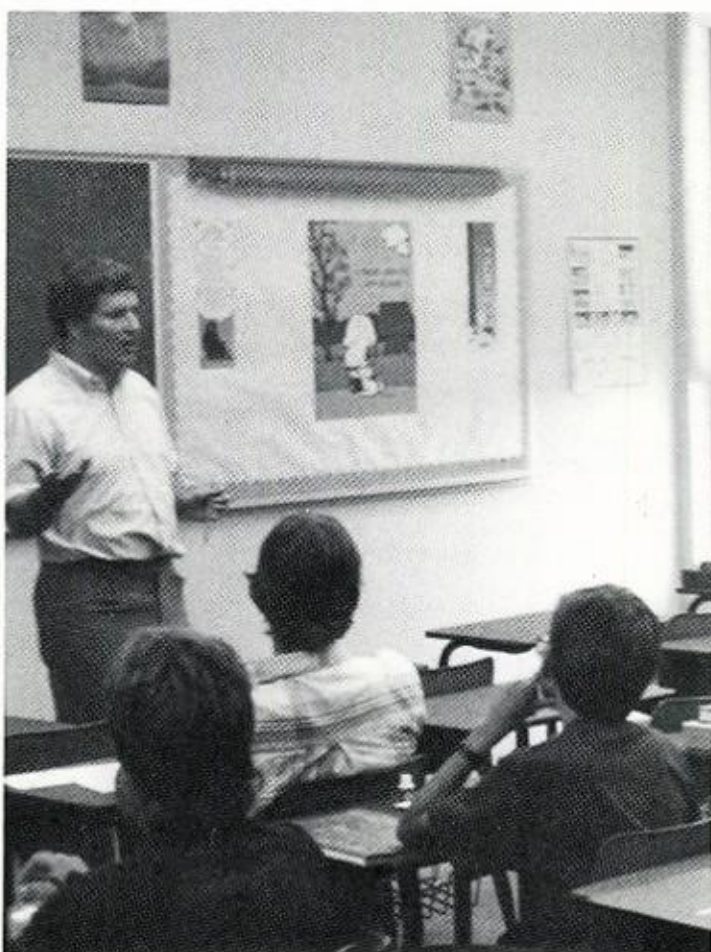

TEMPLETON, SONNY - Advanced and Regular World History

From Valley Forge to Vietnam, our country has been shaped by the will of its people. The United States is known for its "melting pot" of nationalities and races, and these American citizens created the history and the government that we know today.

To present these subject areas, social studies teachers must often research outside reading materials. Present political situations often find their way into class discussions. Thus, newspapers become a necessary tool.

However, personal appearances are often more beneficial to such classes than everyday discussion. Members of the armed forces make visits, as well as local elected officials. These special guests provide information on future careers and the future of our country itself.

What Is History? Mr. Hodgkiss teaches the necessity of learning history to his fifth period history class.

Raid! Mr. Sonny Templeton's students show their feelings about World History.

The youthful appearance of a teacher can often cause an interesting situation. In addition to the lack of respect by students not acquainted with the teacher, the mix-up by fellow teachers is even more embarrassing. For Dennis Hodgkiss, his first year as American history teacher at North Lamar made him feel like a misbehaving student. "One day, I was in the library giving instructions to my student aide. I wasn't talking very loud, but apparently it was distracting. Mrs. Ochoa turned around and said in a professional librarian's tone, 'Students, we need to be . . . Oh! It's you, Mr. Hodgkiss.' I was afraid for a moment that I was going to be removed from the library for talking."

Social studies teachers are reminded every day, as they speak before their classes, that they are teaching tomorrow's history-makers. The decisions made by their students will decide the future of the world and the country.

Desk-top Bedlam: Mr. Hodgkiss prepares for his day of American history classes.

Fine Arts classes have been recognized for their importance in making a well-rounded student. Some of the largest organizations in the school stem from these fine arts classes, and there are a lot of reasons students give for taking the class. However, most agree that they love the performance more than the instruction itself.

Rising above obstacles from the move to AAAA, 1986 bandmen accomplished the amazing feat of winning a I at marching contest. This was the first time for the Panther Band and it also qualified them for the regional contest.

In its second year, the choir experienced the placement of three members in the All-Region Choir. The singers performed for local civic groups, Winter Wonderland, and the Annual Christmas Concert.

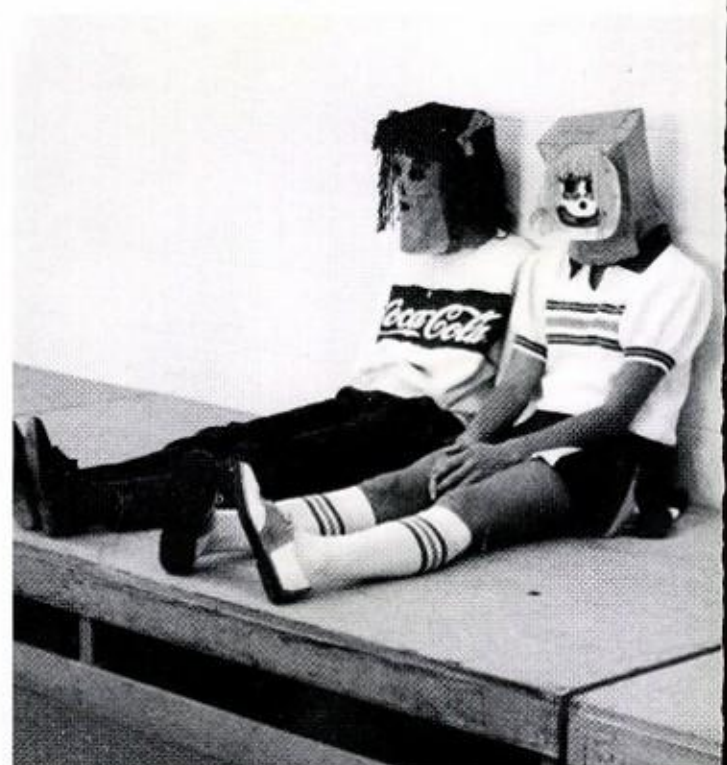

In the spring of 1986, students presented "You Can't Take It With You" for UIL One-Act Play competition. Drama students also performed for the elementary schools and took field trips to see local collegiate and professional performances

Rehearsal: Choir director Christi Hardy leads Suzanne Loftin, Amy Foster, Rhonda Denny, and Anjie Carpenter in "Sleigh Ride."

(Top Right) We Made It: Drum Major Missy Payne conducts the band's performance at Regional Marching Contest in Mesquite.

Who Am I? Third period Theater Arts students Rebecca Ricketson and Stephanie Davis give impromptu presentations.

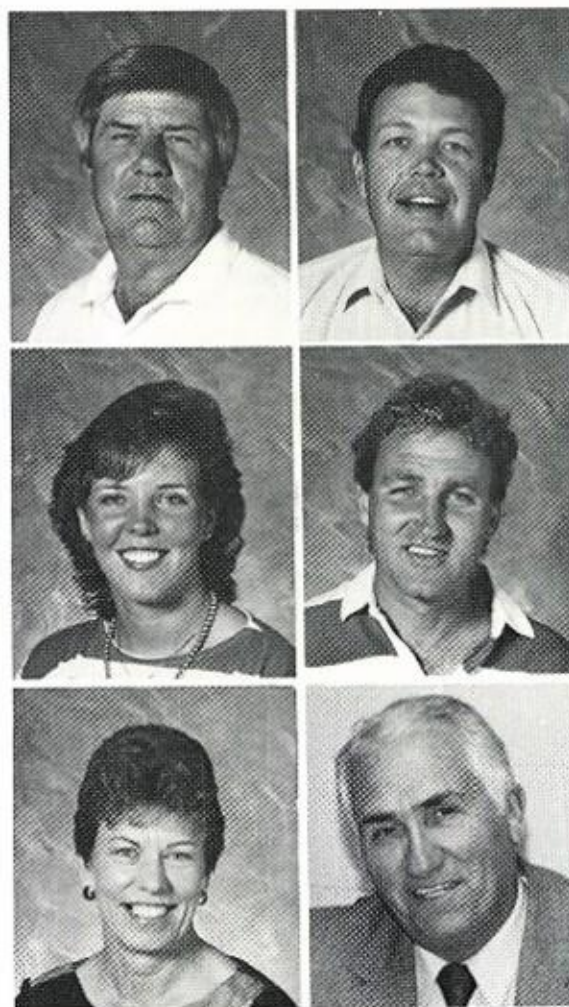

Physical Education, Health

Fitness for the Body and Mind

Physical Education is demanding of the body and the mind. It requires top performance at all times and saps the energy until it is almost impossible to continue. However, at the same time, one must know how to keep the body healthy and fit.

A semester of Health class provides students with knowledge of the general functions of the body. Physical fitness and personal hygiene are stressed. In addition, students are taught the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse.

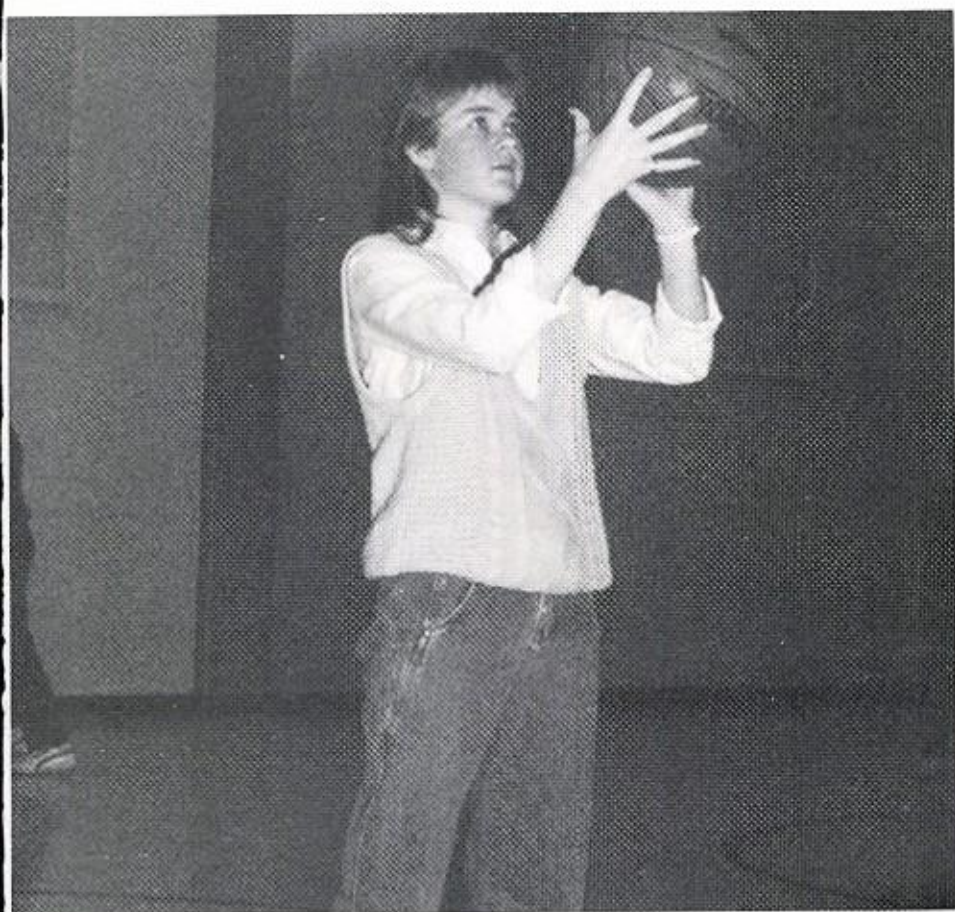

Students not involved in organized athletics often find themselves in P.E. class. No one sits on the bench in this game. Athletes participate in everything from roller skating to skooter basketball or volleyball to softball. P.E. class is often thought of as a welcome break to monotonous sit-down class work.

"Business skills prepare today's mind for tomorrow's future," and vocational classes do just that. With job preparation programs to teach career motivation, students are able to receive on-the-job training. This allows students to work in their career-related field while receiving wages at the same time.

Vocational teachers often plan field trips that teach special lessons not normally learned in the classroom. These are enjoyable for students, but they sometimes create unusual situations for teachers. Mr. Copeland, VOCT sponsor, recalled an experience that left him with a bad feeling. "I had a bus load of students heading to Dallas on a field trip. I looked up and I had a student that wasn't even in my class on the bus."

Vocational classes are some of the more popular elective courses offered and with good reason. Students are able to prepare for the occupational world while still furthering their education and their preparation for the future.

Business

Getting Ahead of the Rest

Future plans for high school graduating students often involve the answer to a crucial question. Should I go on to college, or should I find a job? A business class is beneficial to all kinds of students, regardless of their ideas about the future. Skills in accounting or economics are useful in everyday home management, and the ability to type is often important when applying for a job.

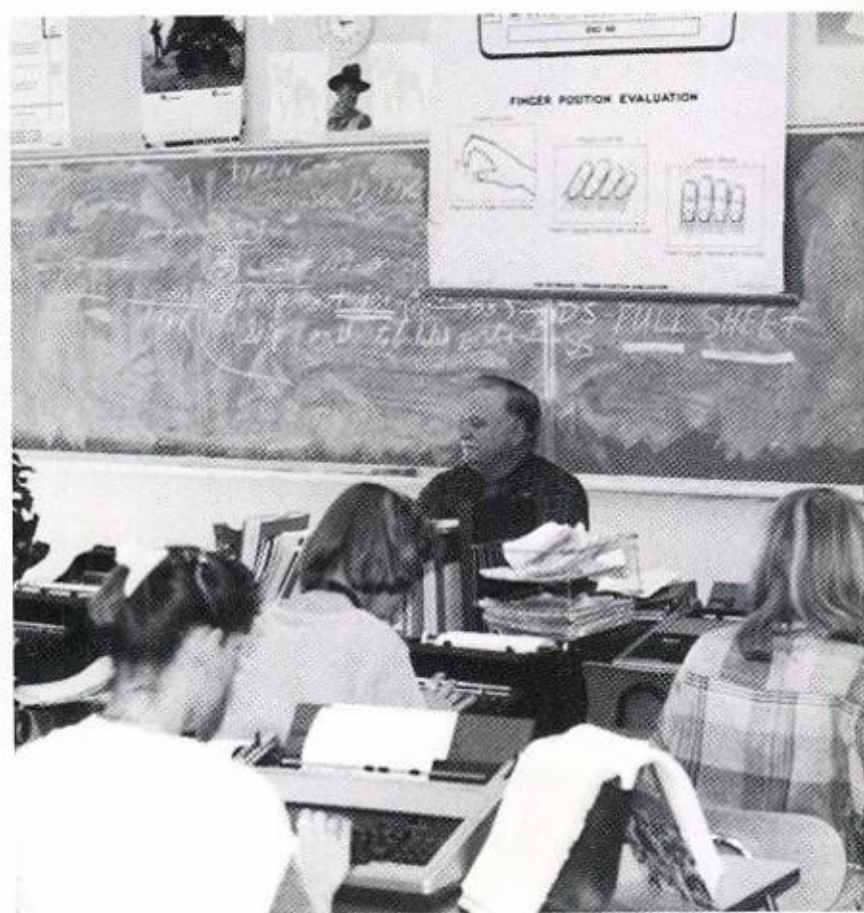

Business teachers often encounter unusual happenings in their classes. Sometimes it is a prank by a student. At other times, it is a genuine accident or problem. However, they will usually agree with Coach George's statement. He said, "I can't think of any school system in the entire state where I would rather be!!"

Total Concentration: Seniors Michelle Locke and Gina Norton participate in an oral game of Trivial Pursuit in Mrs. Harrell's Economics class.

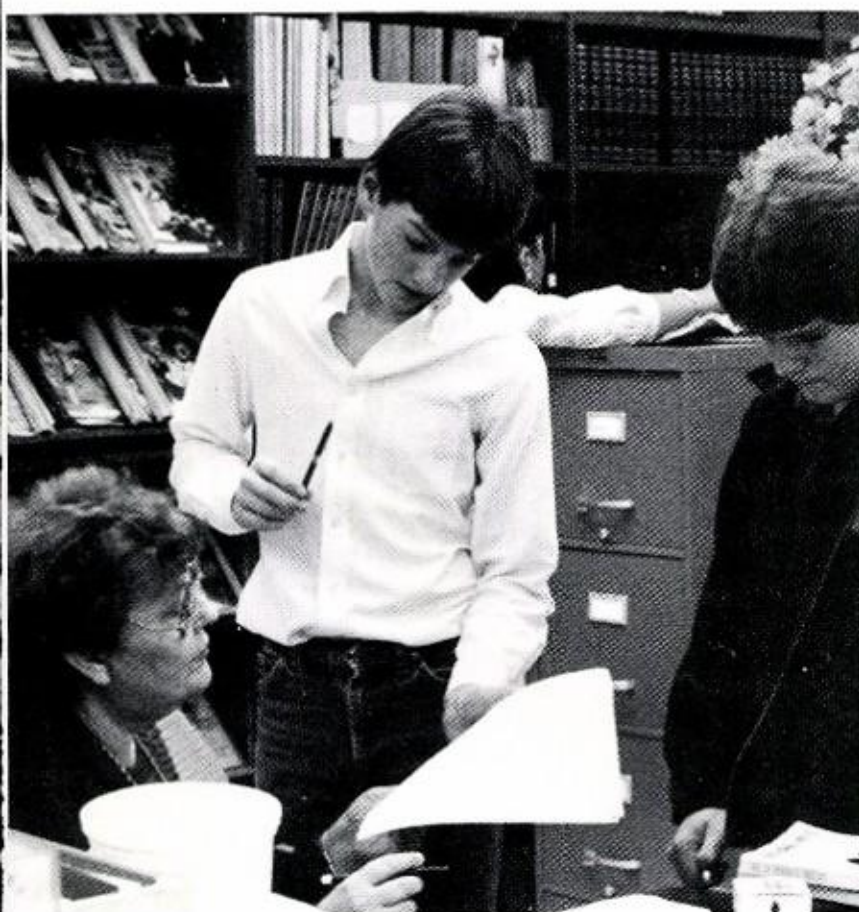

Library, Special Education

People Helping People

Need a research paper reference? Want to see the latest issue of Newsweek? Try the library. Boxes of old magazines fill the closets, and the shelves are fairly bursting with books of knowledge and information. If you can't find what you want, an able librarian will get it for you.

Caring! That is one of the best ways to describe special education teachers. They give of their time and energy in order that their students will get a head start in life. They put their talent to use by giving individualized instruction to each student, thus making the learning process easier.

Counselors

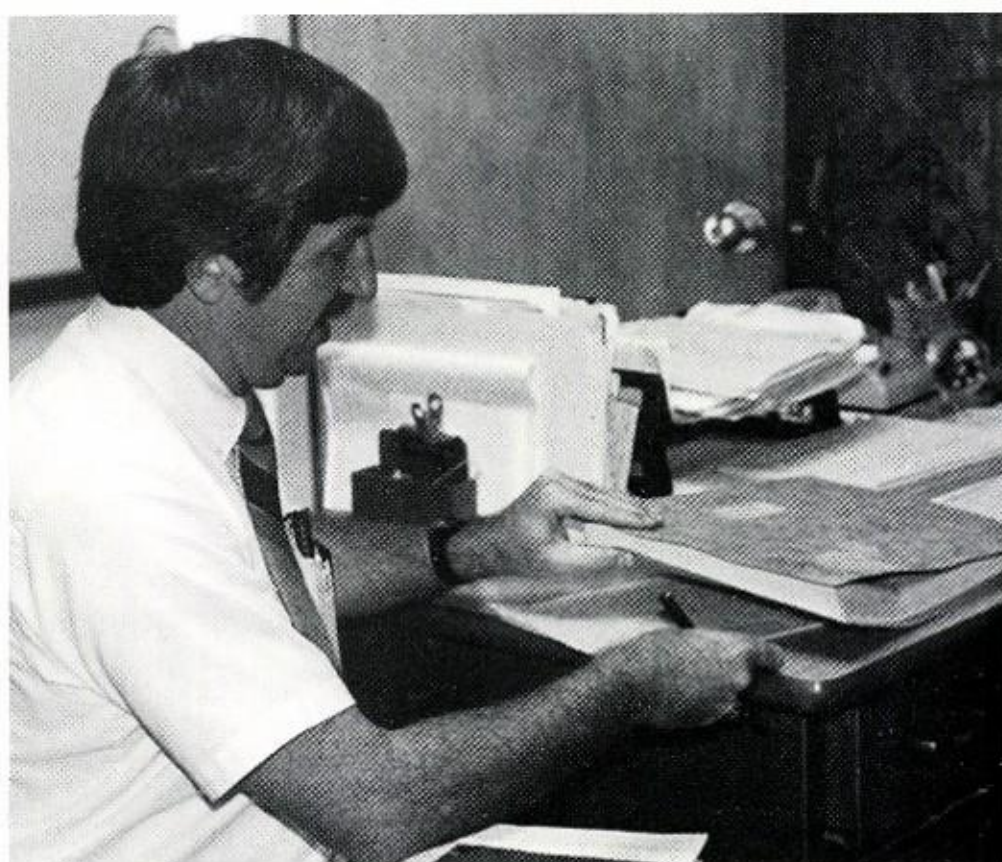

Helping Those in Need

With concern for the future of high school students, these dedicated professionals work many hours poring over computer print-outs and student records. Always on the look-out for scholarship opportunities, they develop schedules that allow students to prepare for a future in the collegiate or vocational world. They are trained to be of assistance and to help students with any personal problems they might encounter in everyday life.

Secretaries • Nurses

In Sickness and In Health

They take care of school records. They answer the ever-ringing telephone. They bend over backward to help. They are our secretaries. Keeping everyday activities running smoothly and efficiently is their main goal, but they are never too busy to stop and help a student. Hard work and a dazzling smile make them all-time hidden heroes.

Keeping students healthy is what nursing is all about. By recording annual statistics and visiting ailing families, our nurses furnish us with the best in medical treatment. They dedicate themselves at all times, whether making "rounds" or just stopping to say "hi" in the hallway.

BATTLE, LINDA - High School Secretary
EMERSON, THERESA - School Nurse

REAVIS, LINDA - Transportation Secretary
RICKETSON, ELIZABETH - Secretary to Principal

SHELTON, SUE - Plan A Secretary
STEWART, SARAH - School Nurse

WHITE, VIRGIE - Plan A Office

Administrative Secretaries are: Sharon Green (Seated), Judy Bankston, Melissa Maggard, Robbie Dancer, and Carolyn Moore.

"Aren't You Feeling Well?" Nurse Sarah Stewart takes Jimmy Johnson's blood pressure as others wait their turn.

Cafeteria Workers and Custodians

Behind the Scenes

Preparing nutritious and delicious meals, the cafeteria workers always have a tempting assortment from main dishes to desserts to serve to students and teachers. Service with a smile can be counted on whether a person is purchasing a complete meal or just a bag of French fries.

Do you need a light bulb replaced or a pencil sharpener installed? The custodians are always ready to lend a hand and keep things running as smoothly as possible. Without their work behind the scene, the production of everyday school life would not be possible.

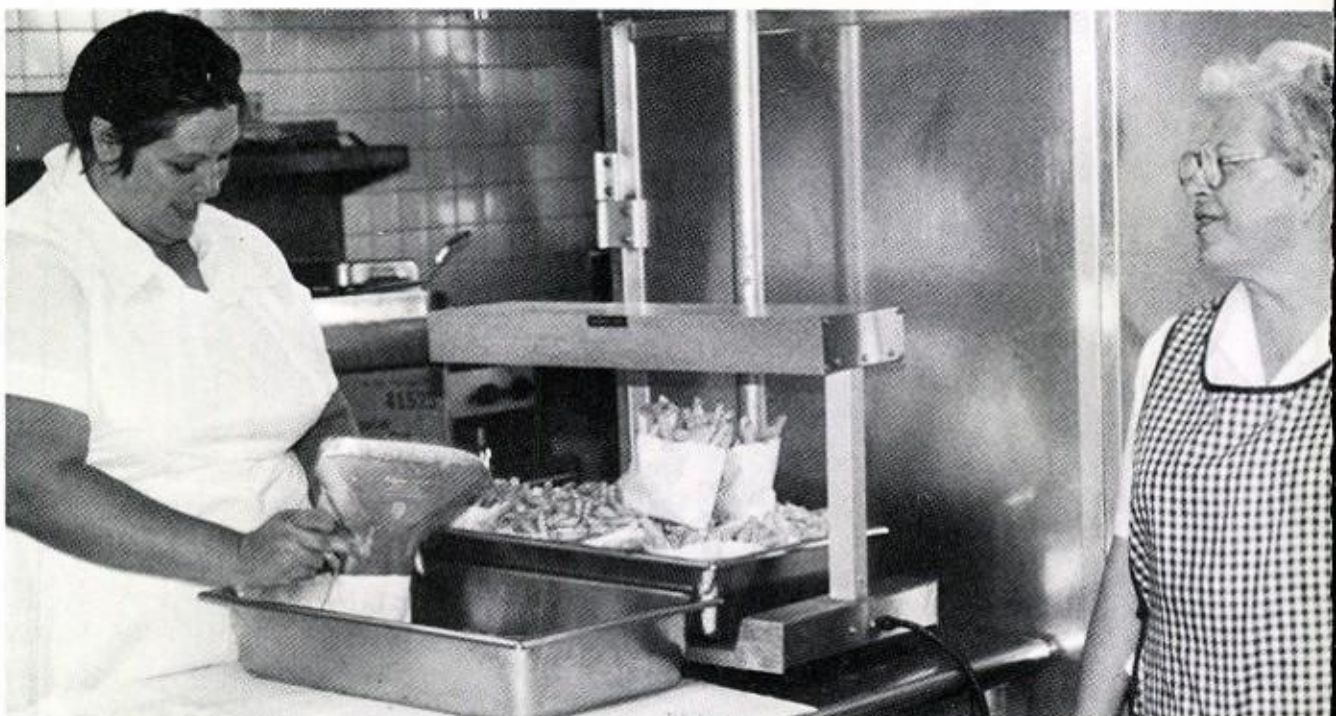

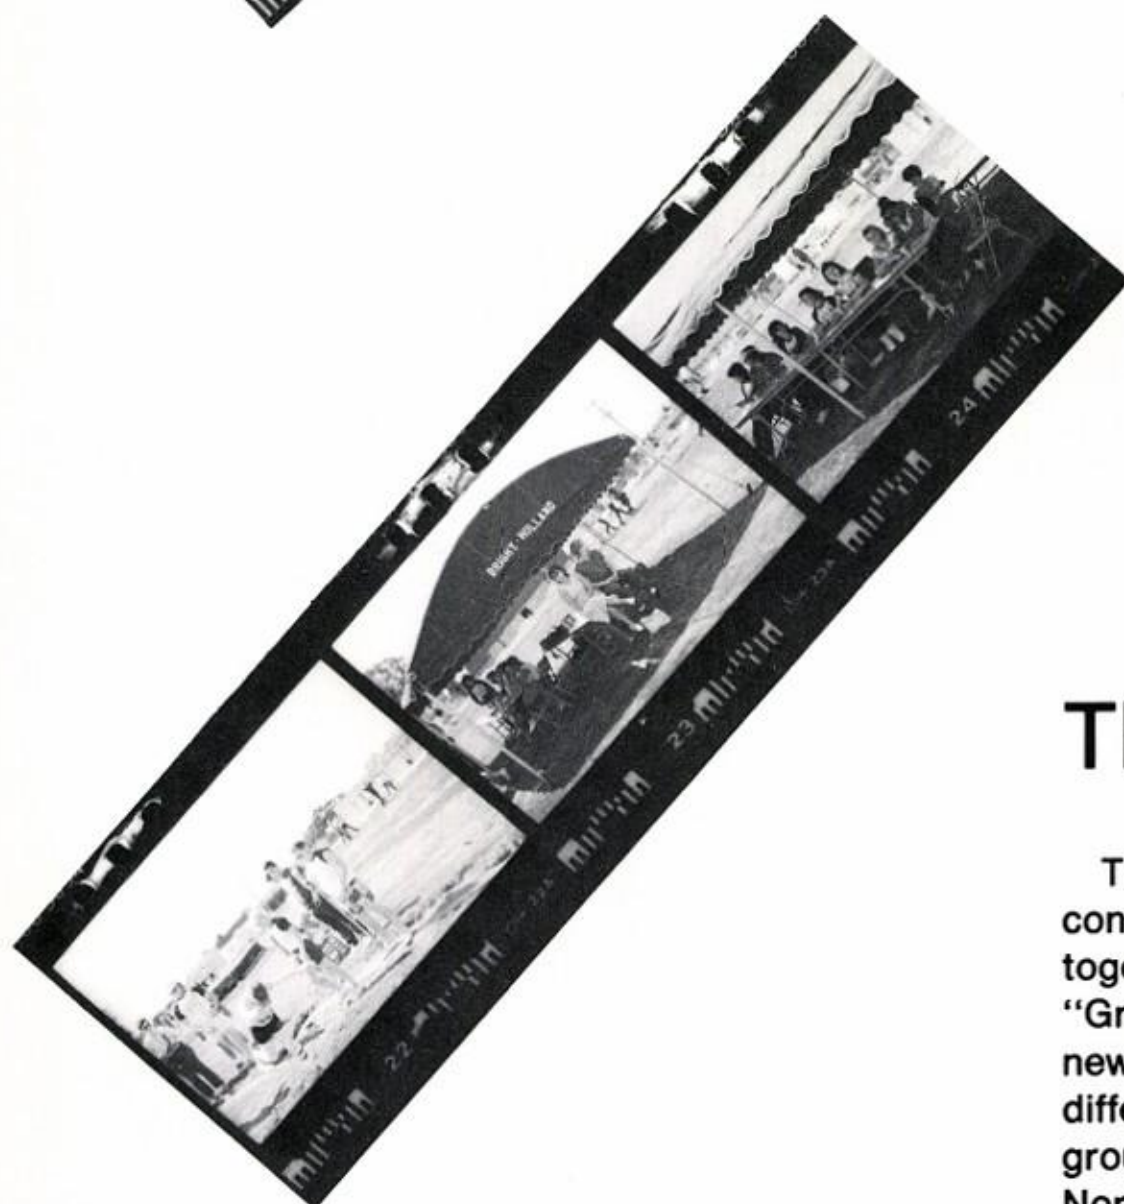

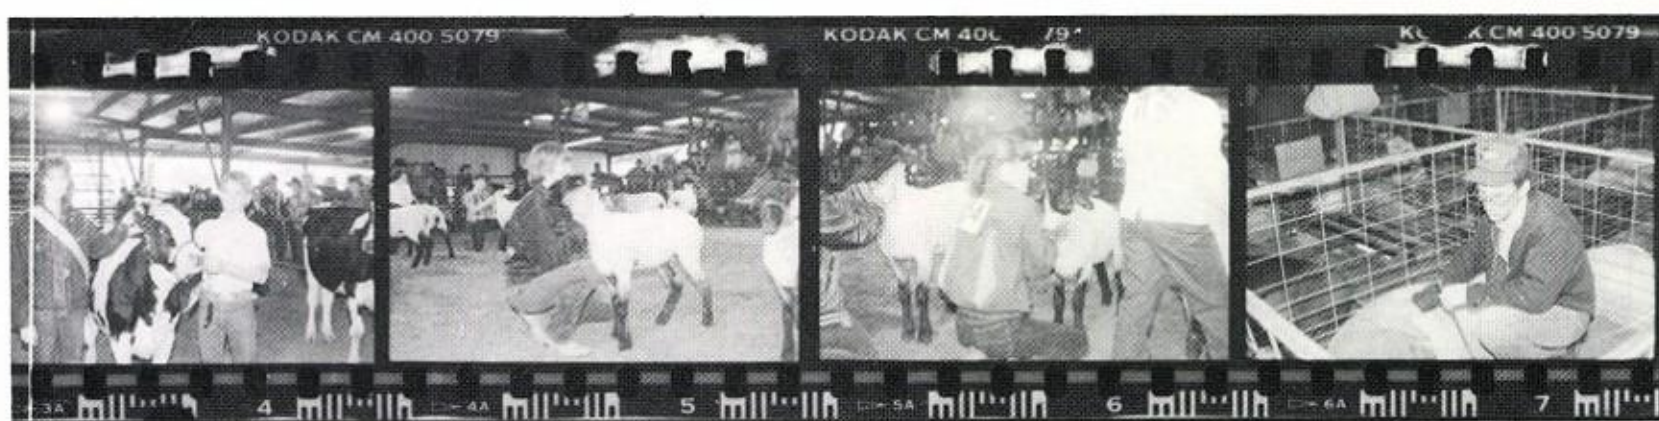

Cafeteria Workers are: (Front Row) Eva Hughan, Alice Morgan, Liala Brakebill, Sandra Freeman, (Back Row) Isabel Shipman, Catherine Moore, June Barber, Pam Porter, Billie Henderson, and Billy Daniels.

Custodians are: Don Morgan, Clifford Harrison, Denise Williams, Claudie Dial, and Billie Hill.

Preparing Lunch: Pam Porter bags French fries as Eva Hughan observes.

The Cast

The cast at North Lamar is one of contrast, a collage of faces working together toward the common goal of "Graduation." Then the act ends, and a new one must begin. The setting is different, the individuals change, but the group is the same. They are the cast of North Lamar.

Brett Johnson Elected President

Class rings, invitations, diplomas, Senior pictures, SAT, getting a job, or going to college . . . These are some of the choices facing every high school Senior. After struggling for twelve years, it doesn't seem possible for May to be so near. As the end comes closer, Seniors wonder what life will be like without tardy slips, detention hall, and third period announcements. There are so many good friends that have been made and so many special moments that will never be forgotten, no matter what direction their lives may take. After the final diploma is taken in hand, the halls will seem empty, but come September, a new group will take the place of the Class of 1987.

When "high school" is mentioned to most people, they automatically think of Seniors dressed in cap and gown. Others may think of Freshmen with their innocent picked-on faces, but the two most forgotten classes are the Sophomores and the Juniors.

Junior Samantha Berry commented, "It's nice because you get more privileges, like going to Prom." Sophomores don't have as many, but they do have relief from "being a Freshman."

Sophomore Rebecca McCloud stated, "People don't pick on me or say 'You don't know anything.'"

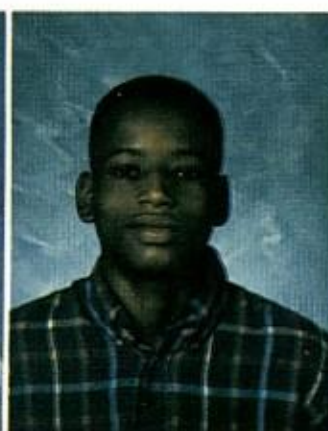

It's true that the tenth and eleventh graders are often forgotten; however, they are constantly reminded that they are the Freshmen of yesterday and Seniors of tomorrow.

Geometry Genius: Randy Ballard gives hallway instruction to Sophomores Jennifer Swindle and Shannon Barolet.

The Stars

Although every student is an intricate part of the intriguing plot at North Lamar, there are those individuals who seem to stand out from the rest of the students. Their achievements in athletics, UIL, academics, and their personal lives put them in the spotlight and add a little sparkle and brilliance to the cast. No academy awards will be given for their performance; however, they will receive personal satisfaction in knowing that they have done the best they can in their lives.

Mr. and Miss North Lamar are Rodney Franklin and Sonia McCarty.

Yacht Beau and Sweetheart are Greg McNeece and Cindy Carico.

Homecoming Queen is Amanda Harris.

Proud Parents Escort Nominees

From the first nomination election to the last drum roll before the announcement of the new queen, the Homecoming Nominees were brimming with excitement. Each girl had many decisions to make, one of the most important being what to wear for the half-time ceremonies. They also had to decide who their escorts would be for the pep rally and football game.

For the parents of the nominees, it was a nerve-racking event. Some claimed to be more nervous than their daughters. For J.T. Childers, his daughter's instructions caused more uproar than she had intended. Debbie stated, "I had previously informed my dad that we were to stop at the forty yard line. However, I forgot to mention that the second one was our destination. My father stopped at the first forty yard line, and as I drug him to the next one, he desperately protested, thinking we were totally messing up. What seemed to be a special moment was actually spent arguing with my dad."

Homecoming Queen Nominee Amy Foster is escorted by Cary Bailey.

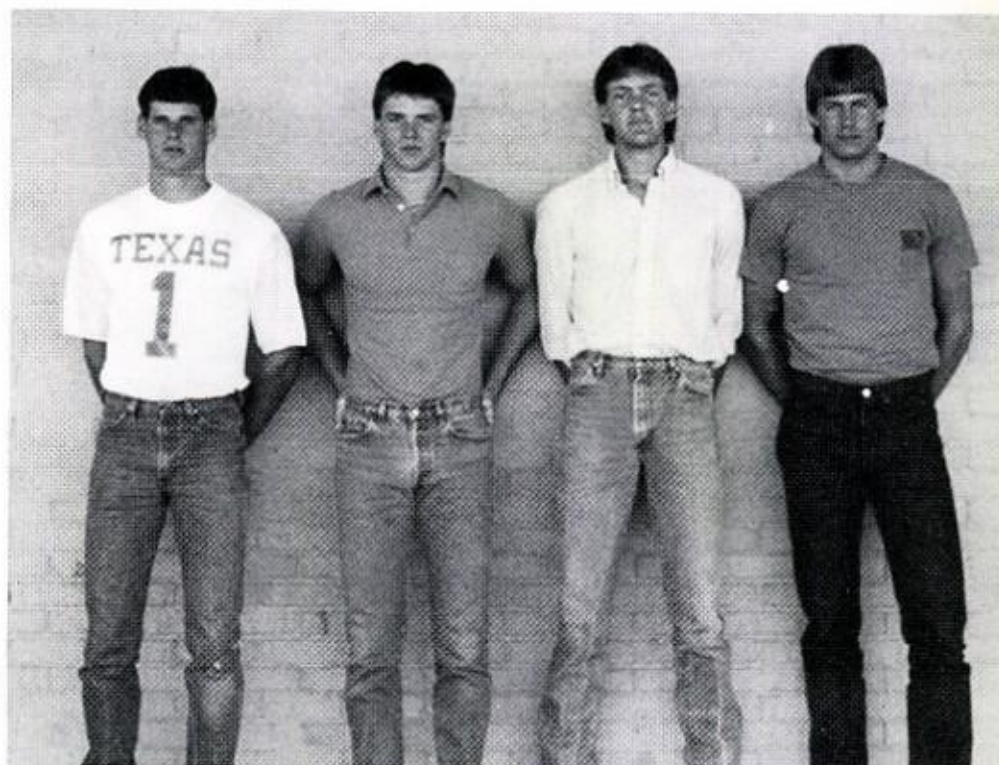

Homecoming Queen Nominee Debbie Childers is escorted by Corey Young.

Sports Stars

A Tradition of Winning

At North Lamar, everyone participating in athletics is a winner. There are people, however, who exemplify the cream of the crop. These athletes put in many hours of hard work, but their success can be measured in more than just the competitions they win. Their talents bring them honors on the district, regional, and state levels, but greater than that is the feeling of personal satisfaction that they have in knowing they have done their very best.

Boys' Basketball All-District Team members are: Corey Young, Craig Jones, Stephen Bush, and Jim Bailey.

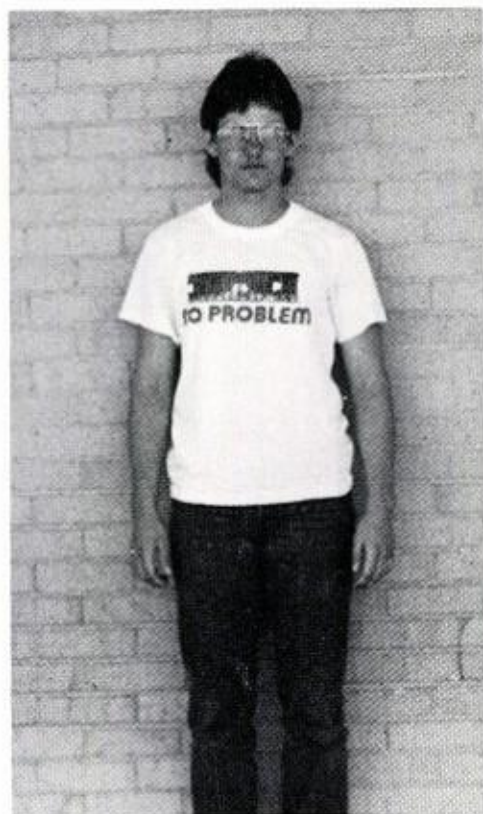

Girls' Basketball All-District Team members are: Kelly Barolet, Jennifer McFadden, and Stacey Dangerfield.

Boys' Track Regional Qualifiers are: Chester Crouch and Jim Bailey.

All-District Golf Team Member is: Jackie Bryant.
All-State Cross-Country Team Members are: Patti Proctor, Sabra Lands, and Amy Slaughter.

All-District Football Team Member is: Paul Drake.

UIL

Academic Excellence

The shrill alarm from a bedside clock breaks the early-morning silence. Rousing himself from the depths of dreamland, the sleeper hastily dresses and leaves for school . . . on a SATURDAY? Yes, this is a dedicated member of North Lamar UIL Team.

Before the eye-opening Saturday meets are ever planned, many hours of practice must first take place. Students often give up their lunch hour or afternoon to perfect their scholastic talents. Subject areas range from the speed of Number Sense to the performance of Poetry Interpretation, and many students find themselves competing in more than one event.

Made popular by an excellent record, UIL team numbers have increased in past years as have the winning standards. The team's success has spread the idea that North Lamar is definitely a school to be reckoned with.

(Top) State UIL Winners are: Erin Swint, Andrea Izzo, Adam Routon, and Liskin Swint.

Regional UIL Winners are: Andrea Izzo, Liskin Swint, Adam Routon, Ronnie Nutt, Kenneth Shirley, Kristi Harris, and Erin Swint.

Science Fair Winners are: (Front Row) Amber Smallwood, Pam Overall, Marcie Stewart, (Back Row) Toby Deupree, Erik Moore, Scott Roberts, Shanna Arnold, and Jacqueroj Henderson.

Special Stars

Exemplifying Leadership

Citizenship and leadership are two of the characteristics looked for in selecting the DAR Good Citizen and Girls' State Representative. This year DAR Good Citizen, Brett Johnson, was selected by both faculty members and students. Teachers first narrowed down the members of the Senior Class to three candidates, and then the final vote was made by the Senior class. Terri LaRue, Girls' State Representative, was selected by the faculty to represent North Lamar at Girls' State held at Texas Lutheran College over the summer. During this event, she was involved in an in-depth study of government, leadership, and citizenship.

Once again, Student Council sponsored a Valentine Pageant in which Amy Foster was crowned Valentine Sweetheart. Sweethearts from organizations on campus competed in this event which was the largest ever held.

1987 Valentine Sweetheart is Amy Foster.

DAR Good Citizen is Brett Johnson.

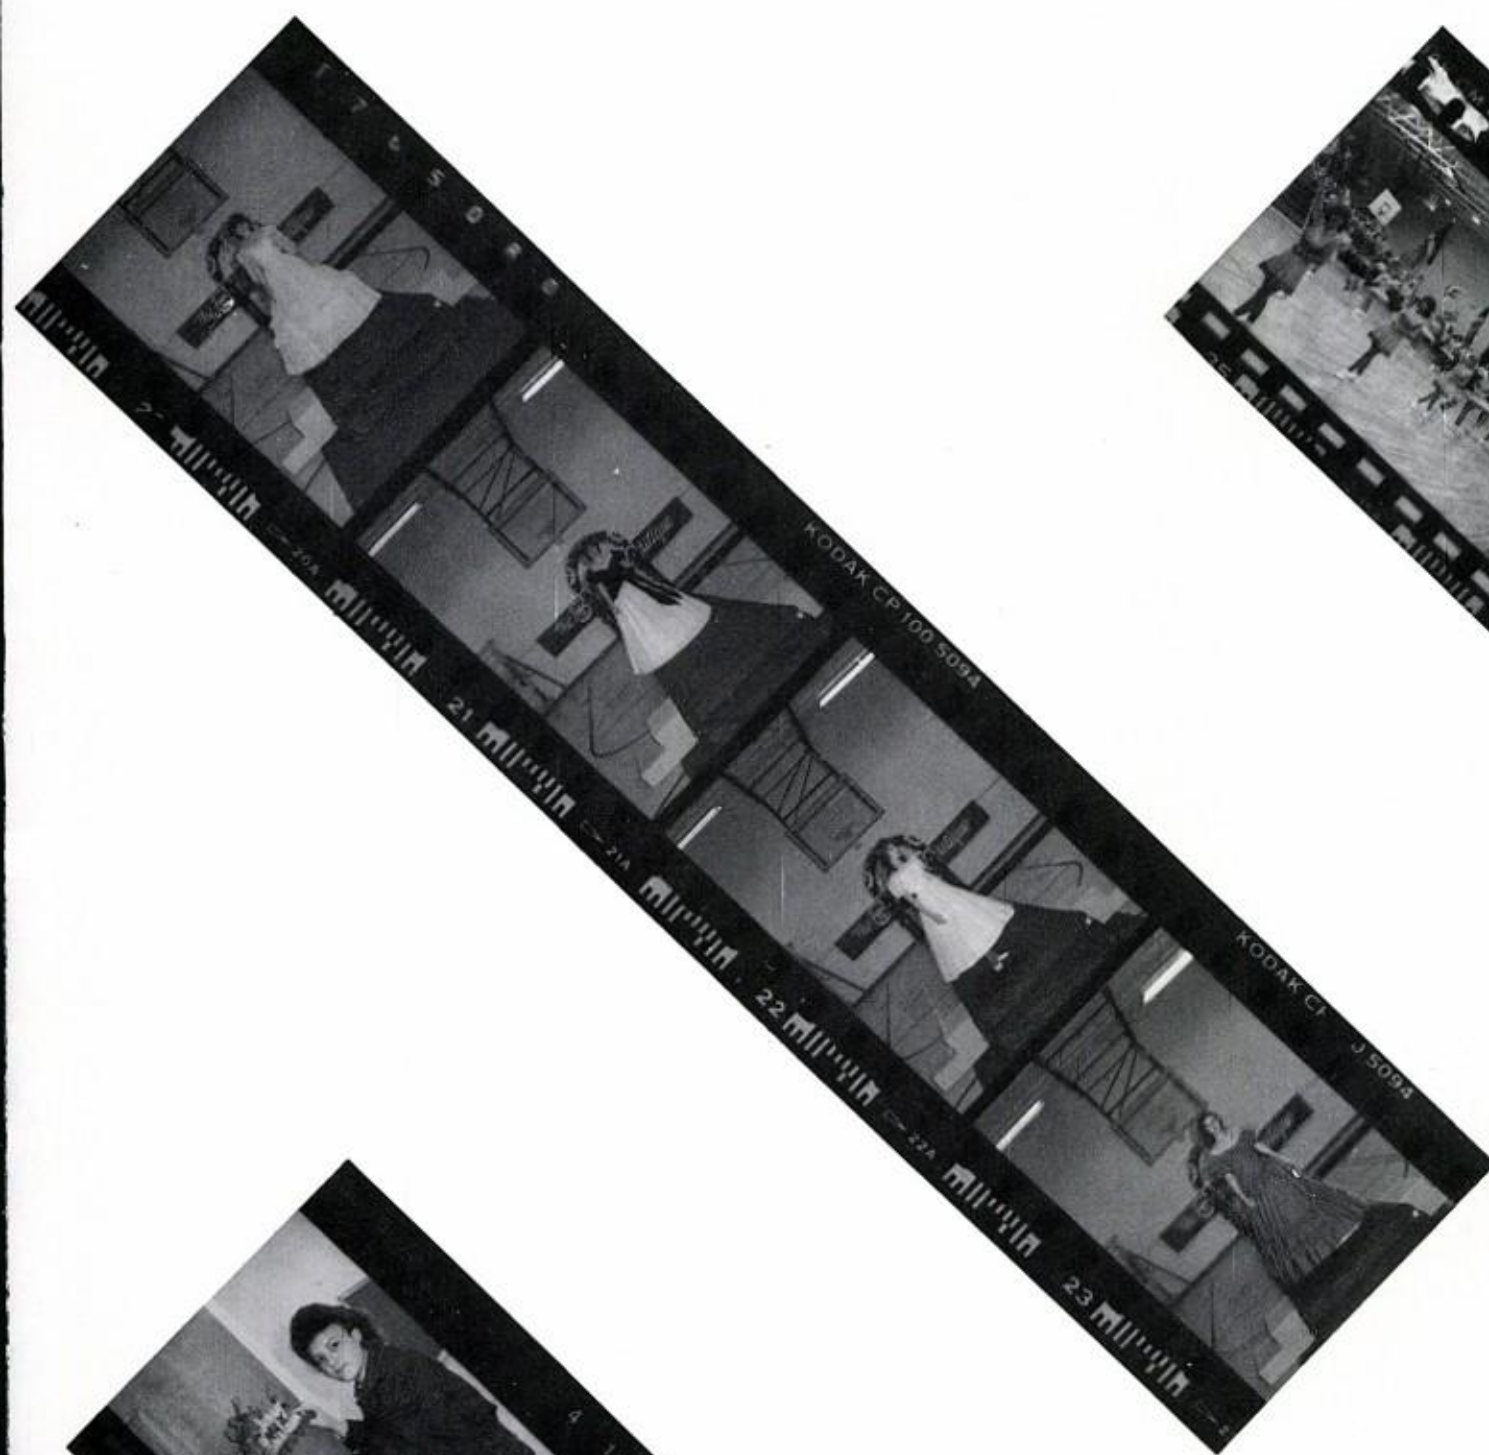

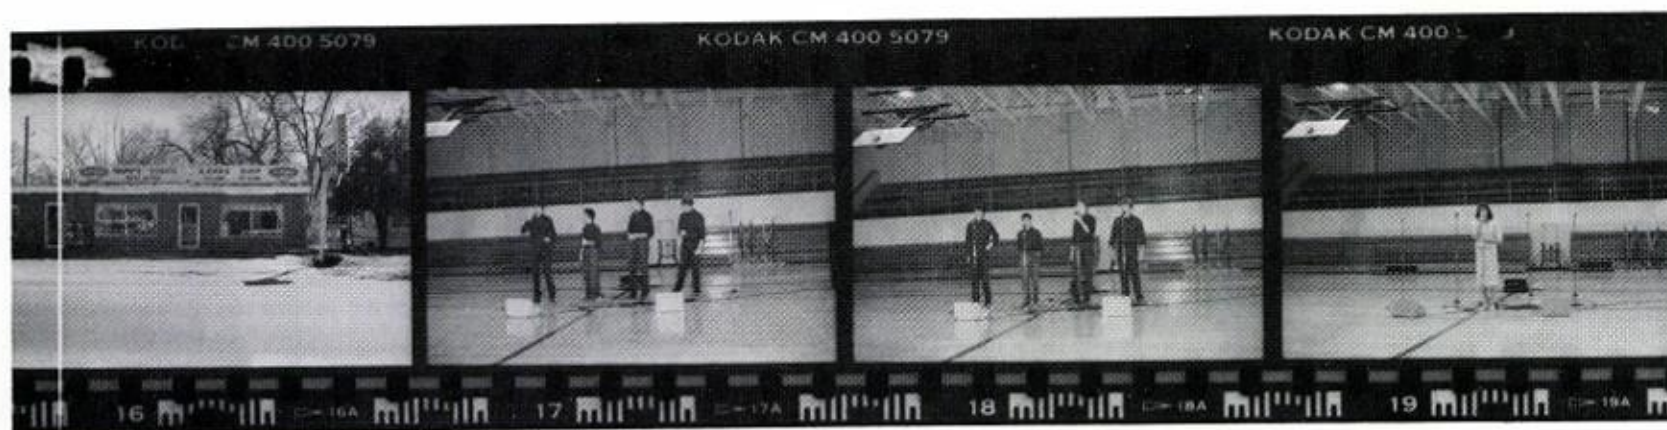

Girls' State Representative is Terri LaRue.

The Producers

For many students, the high school set would not be complete without the presence of the producers. These organizations work hard to allow students the enjoyment of all major extra-curricular events the year round. Such polished performances often reflect on each unique group of producers, brought together by some common bond.

Band

Playing With Pride

Three weeks of fun in the sun stared down the necks of band members preparing for 1986 marching season. As they opened the traditional "welcome to band" newsletter, they learned that summer vacation would be coming to an abrupt halt in early August. Shocking for freshmen, routine for seniors, the last month of summer was filled with fundamentals, sectionals, and learning the contest drill.

With the beginning of school, bandsmen found themselves anticipating Friday nights with nervous excitement. However, all the rehearsals and performances began to add up to one thing - Contest! The goal of perfection made instrumentalists work hard on their individual marching and playing skills. Extra rehearsals were added, and special effects were put into use.

The dedication of the senior class proved to be motivational as band members put in extra energy for the final hour of performance. The stadium became silent and a bass voice rang out over the field. "North Lamar . . . Division I," he stated, and screams of delirious joy revealed the accomplishment of a dream.

Because of their superior rating, the Panther band competed at the Regional Marching Contest in Mesquite. This was regarded as a major accomplishment for the first year as a AAAA band.

After an appearance at the Paris Christmas Parade, the band switched to concert formation. After placing eighteen members in the All-Region Band, the group looked forward to a successful concert season in the spring and summer of 1987.

Half-time Entertainment

It's Not What You Think

With a touch of cloak and dagger, the band performed a James Bond theme show during halftime that featured songs from famous movies.

With the opener of "Peter Gunn," color guard members burst upon the field with machine guns and dueled to the death.

Rising from the grave, the band performed "Corazon" with a trumpet solo by Mike Colwell. This involved a follow-the-leader drill that led into the next feature.

Adding classic yellow carnations and sunglasses to the effect, percussionists were featured in a medley of "007."

For a special finale, the band performed "For Your Eyes Only" that even caused the sun to come out during marching contest.

Color Guard

A Crowd Pleaser

Whether it was August or November, 100° or 30°, one could always find North Lamar color guard members preparing for their Friday night performance. Under the direction of co-captains Ginger Moore and Samantha Berry, the guard never failed to entertain fans with their creative dance and equipment work.

With the special addition of non-band members, the color guard experienced a record year for group size. This allowed for participation of alternates and gave more people the chance to perform on Friday night.

"The work is hard, and the practices long, but it's all worth it when you hear the crowd's applause," noted two-season veteran Kristi Kennedy. Through the beating rain, gusting wind, or blazing sun, you'll always see a North Lamar color guard member proudly presenting the blue and gold of the Panther band in perfect precision.

Beta Club

Leadership, Achievement and Character

Leadership, achievement, and character mark every member of the Beta Club. To qualify, they must have and maintain a 4.0 average and show outstanding leadership. The club serves the community through many projects such as visiting nursing homes several times during the year and ringing bells for the Salvation Army.

The highlight of the year is always traveling to national and state conventions. In June, students and chaperones boarded a bus bound for Washington, D.C. On the way, a stop was made in Nashville, Tennessee, and a day was enjoyed at Opryland. Back on the buses to continue the journey, anticipation filled the air as they looked forward to being in the nation's capitol. The seven-day stay proved to be an exciting one. Michael McFrazier competed in Talent Competition and advanced to finals, and other

Foreign Language

Bridging the Gap

Working toward the advancement of languages, Foreign Language Club has sponsored several events during the year. National Foreign Language Week in March provided fun as well as learning experiences through events such as Costume Day, Foreign T-Shirt Day, Teacher Appreciation Day, and Kiss Day. A favorite for several years, Kiss Day involves non-foreign language students who must learn a French or Spanish phrase from a foreign language student. In return for their hard work, they receive a chocolate candy kiss. Students always look forward to this event; however, after hearing the name, students not familiar with this event are sometimes disappointed to learn that the kisses are candy instead of real.

Key Club

Moving To The Top

Annually ranked among the top thirty best clubs in Texas-Oklahoma District, Key Club has experienced a busy year with its active involvement in service and social activities. From collecting canned goods at Thanksgiving and Christmas, to hosting a Fall Training Conference for Division 32, members are always ready to lend a helping hand.

Perhaps one of the most exciting projects Key Club sponsors has always been the Haunted House for the Everett Harvest Festival. Working with Keywanettes, members construct and man a house of horrors of their own. On November 1, about 10:00 A.M., members were working hard to transform a classroom into an eerie experience for all who would enter. However, it wasn't a ghost that they had to struggle with. Using large 32 by 100 foot sheets of black plastic, members held the corners while strips about eight feet wide were cut. All of a sudden, a large gust of wind caught the plastic, and it took everyone helping about ten minutes to get it to the ground again. Mr. Hodgkiss, sponsor, said, "We were lucky we were not blown into the next county." The booth was a success, however, with over $500 collected.

Other activities included a volleyball match with Keywanettes, a flag football game, bell ringing for the Salvation Army, and an aerobics exercise during one of the meetings. Jane Fonda had better watch out!

Keywanettes

Serving Those in Need

If you need help, who do you call? A Keywanette, she will always be willing to help. These young ladies are learning leadership skills that will build tomorrow through their service work throughout the community and school.

"The Keywanettes are particularly busy through Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays," explained co-sponsor Mrs. Sharon Hindman. Battling the elements the girls participate in ringing bells to help the Salvation Army. In addition, Keywanettes have participated in Thanksgiving and Christmas food baskets, and their annual "adopt-a-family" project.

Keywanette Lieutenant Governor, Samantha Berry, has had a busy year governing Division 11. Along with Mr. Hodgkiss, Keywanette Divisional Counselor, Samantha has attended board meetings and leadership conferences in Tulsa, Dallas, and Kingston, Oklahoma. "I have been given the opportunity to make many friends through Keywanettes and the K-family," stated Samantha.

Why do they do all of this work? CONVENTION, of course! The top club members will journey to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, in May, 1987, for their annual district convention. This is where all the work pays off! As Mrs. Eatherly, club sponsor, explained, "We experience many things during the course of a year, and special memories are made. It is sad that the experiences will never get to be repeated in the same manner; however, another set of memories will be shared with another group of fine North Lamar students."

Math and Science Club

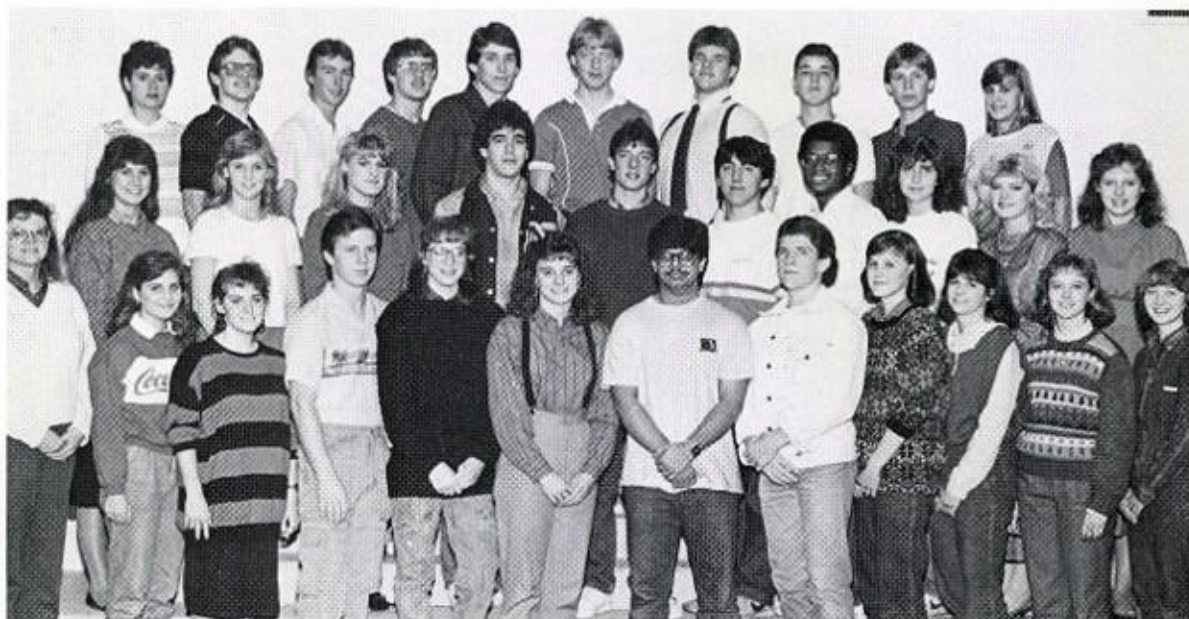

Learning by Doing

To begin the year, Math and Science Club expanded to include the sciences and received a new name and a new sponsor, Mrs. Trudy Hilliard.

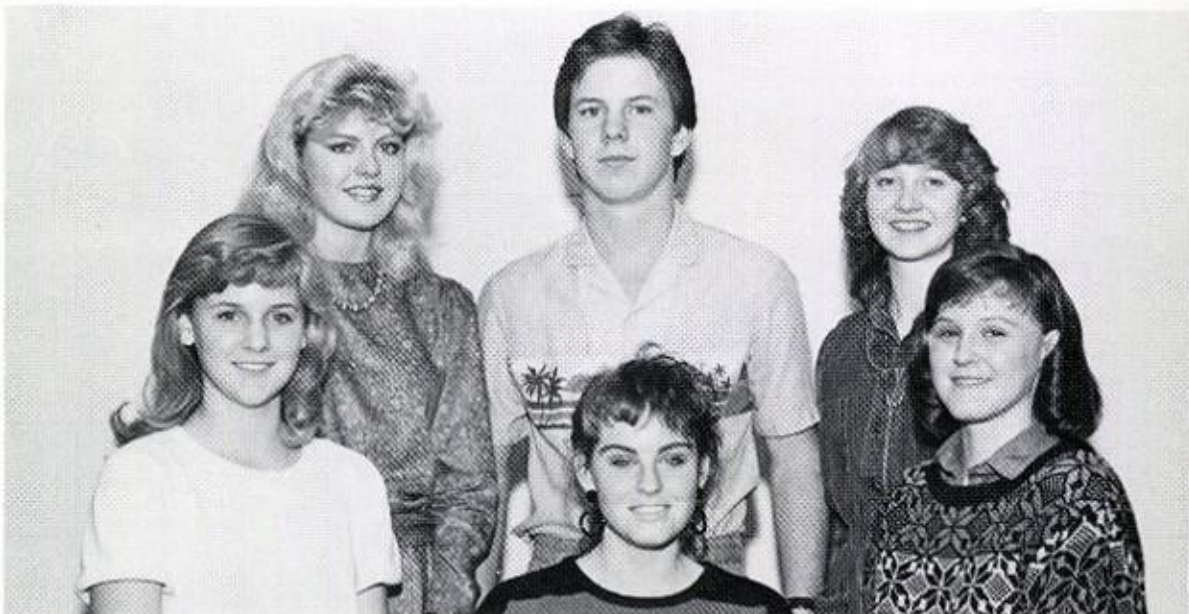

Working for an increase in school spirit, the club participated in Homecoming decorations, held a bonfire, and sponsored a spirit chain. Members sold spirit chain links for ten cents a link, and for every fifty dollars sold, a teacher received a pie in the face during half time of the Paris-North Lamar football game. For Mrs. Svoboda, it was "the greatest honor" she had received at North Lamar. The other seven faculty members expressed similar sentiments while they ate their humble pie. Over $400 was collected, and the money will go toward the Math and Science Club Scholarship given each May at graduation.

Rodeo & Horse Club

On The Right Track

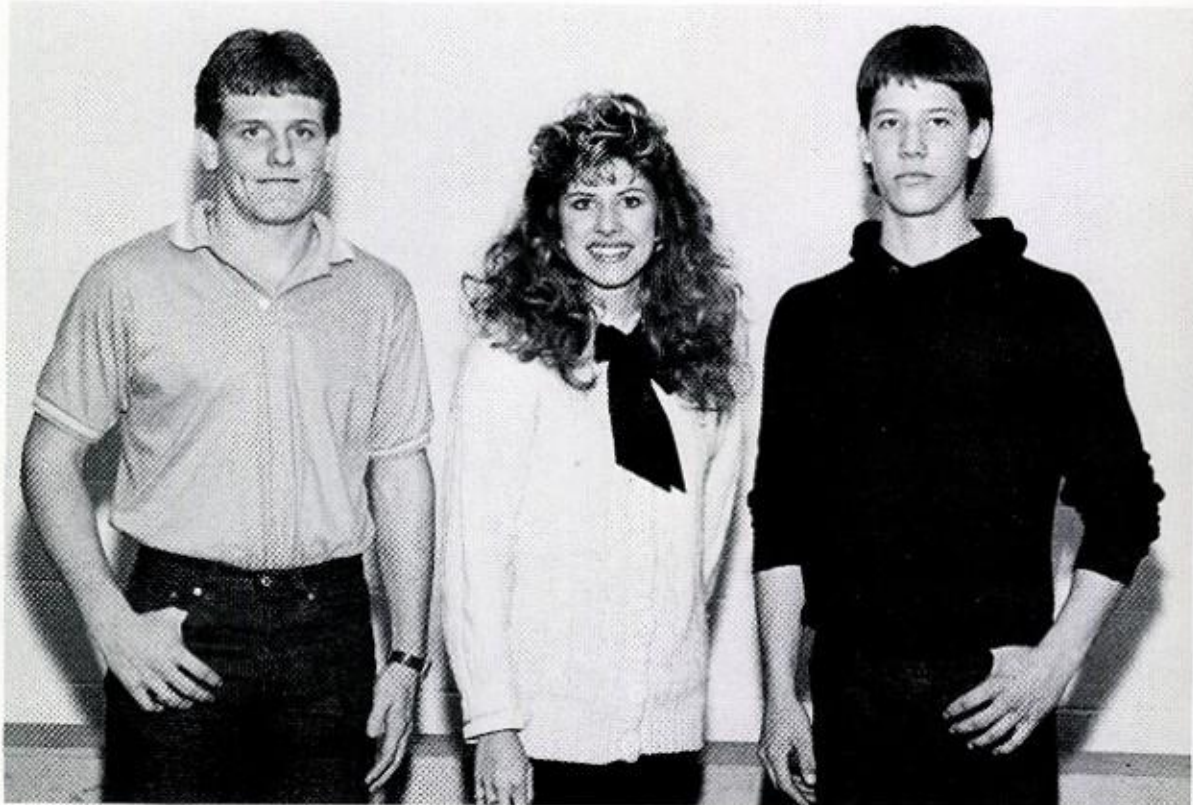

Spending their time practicing and perfecting their form, the Rodeo and Horse Club participated in rodeos around the county and the state. Jacquejoy Henderson was Champion Barrel Racer and Amy Foster was Champion Pole Bender in Four States High School Rodeo Association. Amy also qualified for finals in barrel racing, break-away roping, and goat tying. In the Texas High School Rodeo Association, Amy was Champion Pole Bender and state qualifier.

Speech and Drama Club

Acting Out the Drama

From its annual performance for the elementary students to making masks at Halloween, Drama Club is continually finding new and exciting ways to teach students about theater.

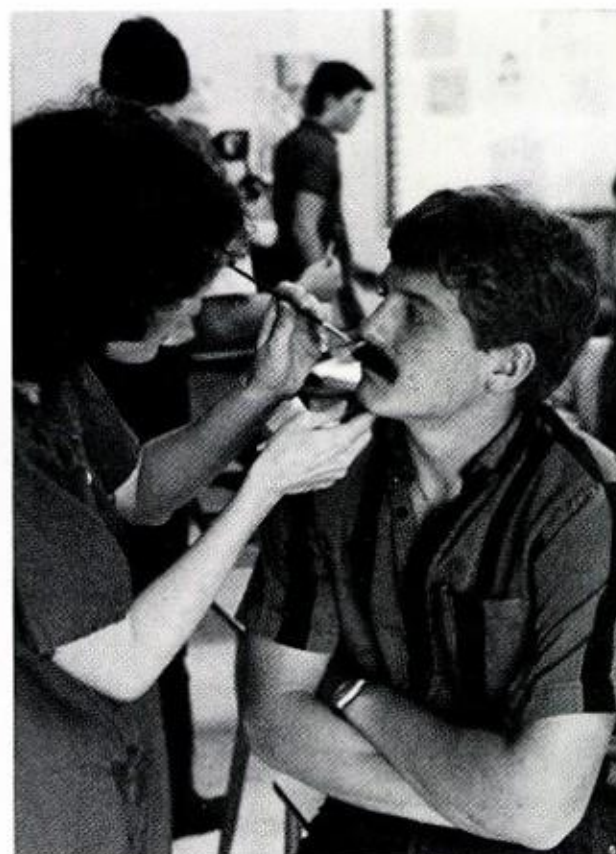

In the fall, Drama Club members helped YWCA by building Safety Town for the youth of Paris. A high point of the year was when all three theater arts classes attended two PJC performances, Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat and A Comedy of Errors. Students were enthused by the complexity and high quality of these performances. To top off 1986, members volunteered to dress up in full costume and participate in the Paris Christmas Parade. These and many other activities highlight a year in the NL Drama Department.

Student Council

Serving School and Community

Homecoming activities, social activities, school spirit activities, and health and safety activities were just some of the projects Student Council sponsored. Members worked closely with faculty, administration, and community to better serve all concerned.

The biggest project was Homecoming. Long before Homecoming week arrived, the Council was busy preparing for the celebration. As the day drew nearer, mums and garters were sold to students and faculty; and clubs were preparing for the decoration contest. When the day finally arrived, members vigorously prepared for the pep rally, half time ceremonies, and Homecoming dance. Forty-seven ex-students registered at the pep rally.

A new project this year has been the YES or "You're Extra Special" Sweepstakes. About seventy students are honored every month. Health and safety projects have also been sponsored to discourage use of drugs and alcohol.

Merry Christmas: Traci Pryor decorates classroom doors for the holiday season.

Enjoying the Dance: Council members Greg McNeece and Cherie Bright enjoy the Homecoming Dance sponsored by Student Council.

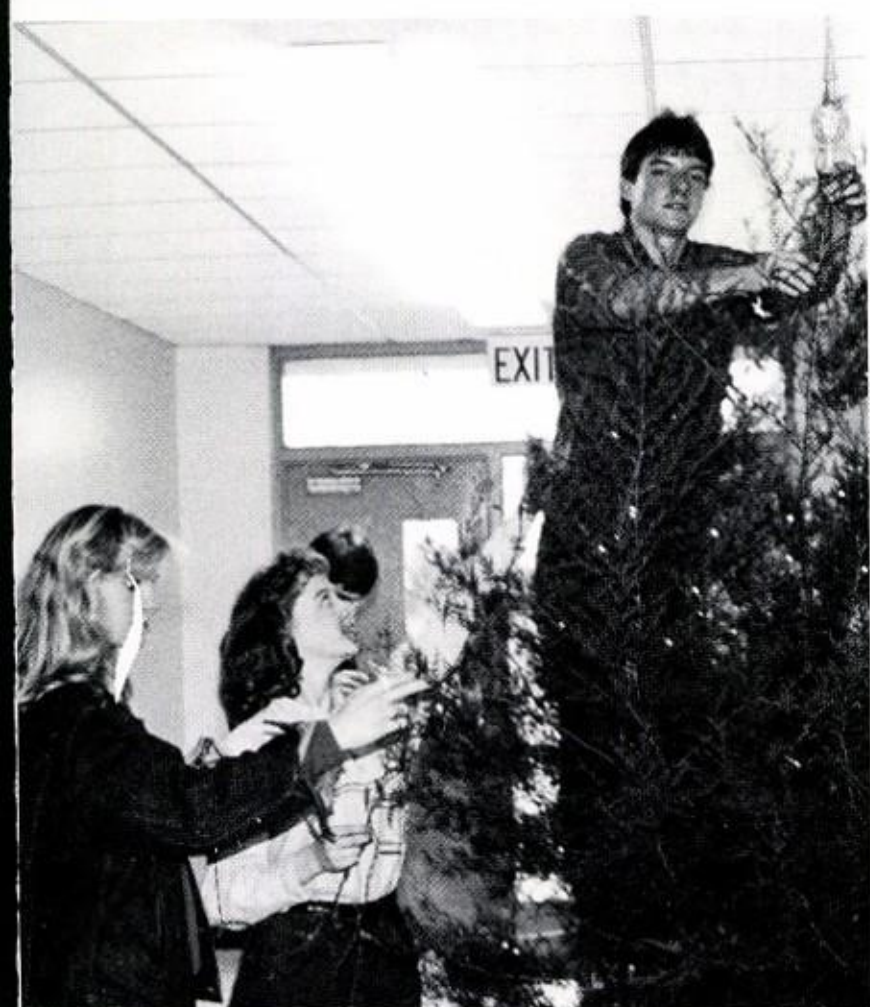

Student Council Officers are: (Seated) Erin Swint, Secretary; Greg McNeece President; Ted Sugg, Treasurer; (Standing) Mrs. Elaine Townsend, Sponsor; Amber Smallwood, Corresponding Secretary; Chris Brannan, Parliamentarian; Shanna Arnold, Chaplain; and Jennifer Swindle, Reporter.

Tying One On: Greg McNeece ties a red ribbon on a car to remind people not to drink and drive as Matt Brunson looks on.
Ho! Ho! Ho! J Knight and Cindy Carico pose as Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus for a Christmas project.

Decorating the Tree: Jami Milton, Lorin Swint, and Greg McNeece decorate the school Christmas tree.

Just Say No! Matt Brunson and Mark Caldwell put up the Health and Safety Bulletin Board.

TAFE

Teaching Tomorrow's Youth

Preparing to teach tomorrow's youth, TAFE has had a busy year holding social events and participating in school sponsored activities. To begin the year, a weiner roast and hayride was held at Laura Esterer's house in October. Making Christmas a merry affair, a pizza party was held on December 8. Gifts were exchanged and diets were blown as large amounts of pizza mysteriously disappeared. Members also decorated for Homecoming, put up the hall bulletin board for January and sold sixty-six cases of candy during their annual candy sale.

TAFE Members are: (Front Row) Shelley Leonard, Laura Esterer, Regina Dangerfield, Joi Ford, Shannon Fendley, Kelly Barolet, Tammy Clarkson, Remonda Dangerfield, Robbie Canida, (Second Row) Sponsor Mrs. Mary Lemley, Kim Mullens, Amy Hudson, Becky Dancer, Kim Ashlock, Janna Babb, Rae Davis, Sonia McCarty, Stephanie Anderson, (Third Row) Monica Martin, Jennifer Harris, Missy Hughes, Amy Abbott, Terri LaRue, Karen Carr, Wendy Bell, Gina Norton, (Back Row) Sponsor Mrs. Marilyn Threadgill, Lynn Parson, Deidra Exum, Rhonda Denny, Sharon Steele, Toni Brunson, Lisa Battle, and Tralisa Risinger. Not pictured is Missy Payne.

Hoping to help boost school spirit, VOCT held a Homecoming car bash in October, and students took out their frustrations while they "Beat the Tigers." Another project that was sponsored was a trailer give away. Members also spent their time working on projects to be taken to State competition in the spring.

VOCT Officers are: Bobby Foreman, Secretary; Tom King, Sergeant-at-Arms; Robert Ballard, President; Shad Wilson, Vice-President; Marty Exum, Treasurer; and Elmer Cannedy, Reporter.

Thank you: Robert Ballard presents Mr. Jack Williams with a plaque in appreciation for Williams' Brothers support in the VOCT car bash.

Checking it Out: VOCT students work together to check the balance of tires.

Youth

for Christ Aiding Christians in Need

Under the direction of sponsors Joe Clayton and Lee Ochoa, Youth for Christ provides many services for the local community. In addition to regular lunch-time meeting, club members participate in projects that aid needy families and organizations.

In the spring of 1986, YFC sponsored a gospel talent show to raise money for Special Olympics. Several club members and choir students performed to raise over six hundred dollars in donations.

As in past years, money and food was collected for three needy families in the school district for Thanksgiving dinner. Turkey and all the trimmings, staples, and a good supply of canned goods were presented to each thankful family.

Food for the Needy: Youth for Christ sponsors, Lee Ochoa and Joe Clayton, pose with Lourie Wilson and their Thanksgiving basket.

Faculty Aides and Assistants

From dishpan hands to writer's cramp, faculty aides and assistants help with grading papers, putting up bulletin boards, typing tests, washing lab equipment, filing records, and many other activities that assist everyone involved. Without the help of these students, things would not move as efficiently as they do. Teachers and other faculty members would not have as much time to spend on the more important jobs.

One humorous event occurred when Brian Young, a teacher's aide for Mrs. Hilliard, was washing lab equipment while a Chemistry lab was in progress. Wanting to stir things up, one mischievous student slipped a piece of calcium, an element that reacts with water, into the dishwasher. Immediately, the water began to bubble violently. Brian, fearing the worst, jumped backward in surprise. The rest of the students couldn't help but snicker.

Students Share Dating Experiences

On a Saturday afternoon at 5:30, a teenage girl with rollers in her hair and clad in a bathrobe searches for the perfect outfit to wear on her evening out on the town. A few miles away, her date looks for his favorite shirt and wonders what he will say to her parents when he picks her up. An hour later, he pulls into her driveway and rings the doorbell only to be met not by her father but her nosey brother instead.

Teenage dating produces many memorable and exciting experiences that can sometimes result in the very embarrassing. One of the places that seems to produce the most trouble is in the romantic setting of a restaurant. While dining at the new El Chico, one girl's date turned over his ice tea which knocked the bowl of hot sauce over the edge of the table, causing it to splatter all over the floor, a woman's back, and the his date. She commented, "We were SO embarrassed."

Senior Stacy Denney said, "You never know what to expect on a first date." Shyness seems to be a common theme for many couples, even when the boy and girl have know each other for a while. One individual had a date with a guy she had known all her life; however, the course of the evening proved too difficult for words. She recalled with a laugh, "We didn't say over five words to one another."

Regardless of the mix ups, problems, and difficulties of teenage dating, most students will agree it is usually worth the effort. A special evening with someone you care about can usually make the pains of dating a little easier to bear.

The Commercials

Before the beginning of any production, there must first be backing from the community. However, these "commercials" provide more than just financial assistance. The business men and women of Lamar County also give moral support through their continued help and attendance at any sports event, concert, or other activity the students of North Lamar are involved in.

Coke

SAVING TIPS

on electric air conditioning

Central Systems

1. Set thermostat on 78° or higher.
2. Have equipment checked seasonally by qualified serviceman.
3. Check filter every 30 days. Clean or replace when dirty.
4. Keep furniture, draperies away from air outlets and returns. Clean grills often.
5. Close draperies and blinds to keep out sunlight.
6. Keep fireplace damper closed.
7. Proper home insulation keeps heat out, cuts energy use.
8. Weatherstrip doors and windows. Caulk cracks.
9. Keep windows closed. Open outside doors as little as possible.

Window Units

Follow above suggestions, plus these:

10. Buy units with highest energy efficiency ratio (EER). If EER is not on sales tag, ask for it or figure it yourself. Divide wattage into BTU capacity.

11. Place unit where it'll get as little direct sun as possible.
12. Aim air outlets at lower half of doorway to next room to allow warm air from that room to enter at the doortop for recirculating.
13. Never vent air conditioner into garage. Ventilation is usually too poor for top performance of your unit.

Conserve electricity and you help conserve one or more of the fuels needed to produce it. Conserve fuels and you help assure that there will be enough to meet essential needs for electricity in the future.

If you would like additional information on conserving electricity, call the Customer Service Representative in the TP&L Office.

Babcock & Wilcox

Capturing Energy For Tomorrow's Needs

For more than a century, Babcock & Wilcox has provided innovative products and services to help meet the world's growing power generation needs.

Over the years we've supplied nearly 18,000 boilers and nuclear steam systems to utilities and industries worldwide. And our design modifications, customer training programs, replacement parts operations, and engineering studies are helping customers increase the efficiency and prolong the working life of their existing equipment.

We're preparing for tomorrow's energy needs by seeking new ways to tap the power of the sun, the sea, and even the heat of the earth itself. Additional research focuses on making better use of fossil fuels including America's most abundant energy source—coal.

As an operating unit of McDermott Incorporated, B&W is part of a major energy services company, supplying not only power generation systems, but insulation products, oil and gas production facilities, specialty steel tubing, advanced process controls. Each advancement we make contributes to a brighter tomorrow.

Babcock & Wilcox, a McDermott International company.

Ad Sale Sets New Record

With the beginning of a new school year, Yacht Staff members found themselves moving files and equipment to a new location on the south side of the campus. This move was soon to cause confusion for students, as well as teachers who went in search of a Yacht room that had been taken over by the middle school band. However, everything would soon settle down for the hectic preparation of yearbook pages.

Numbering only sixteen, members were allowed to receive full credit for classwork this year. Junior members were required to work from a textbook in preparation for their Senior year of actual composition.

The staff sold over $7,000 worth of ads and 600 copies of the '87 Yacht. The price of the book was raised, and type style remained Helvetica.

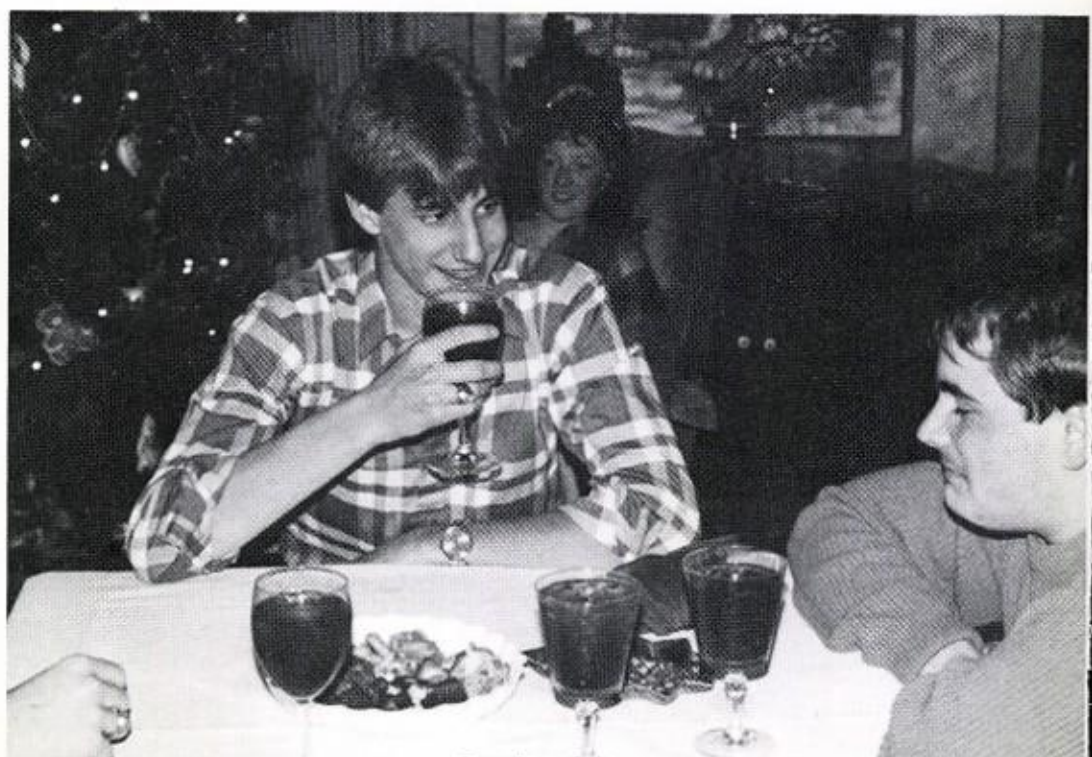

Because of the increased workload, the title of "Co-Editor" was given to Cherie Bright and Missy Payne; Greg McNeece was established in the role of Head Photographer. The Co-Editors chose the theme of "All the World's a Stage" and designed the graphic cover to emphasize the continuity of performance in the school year.

A Mistake? Dale Loughmiller and Mattie Hullinger hunt for errors in copy.

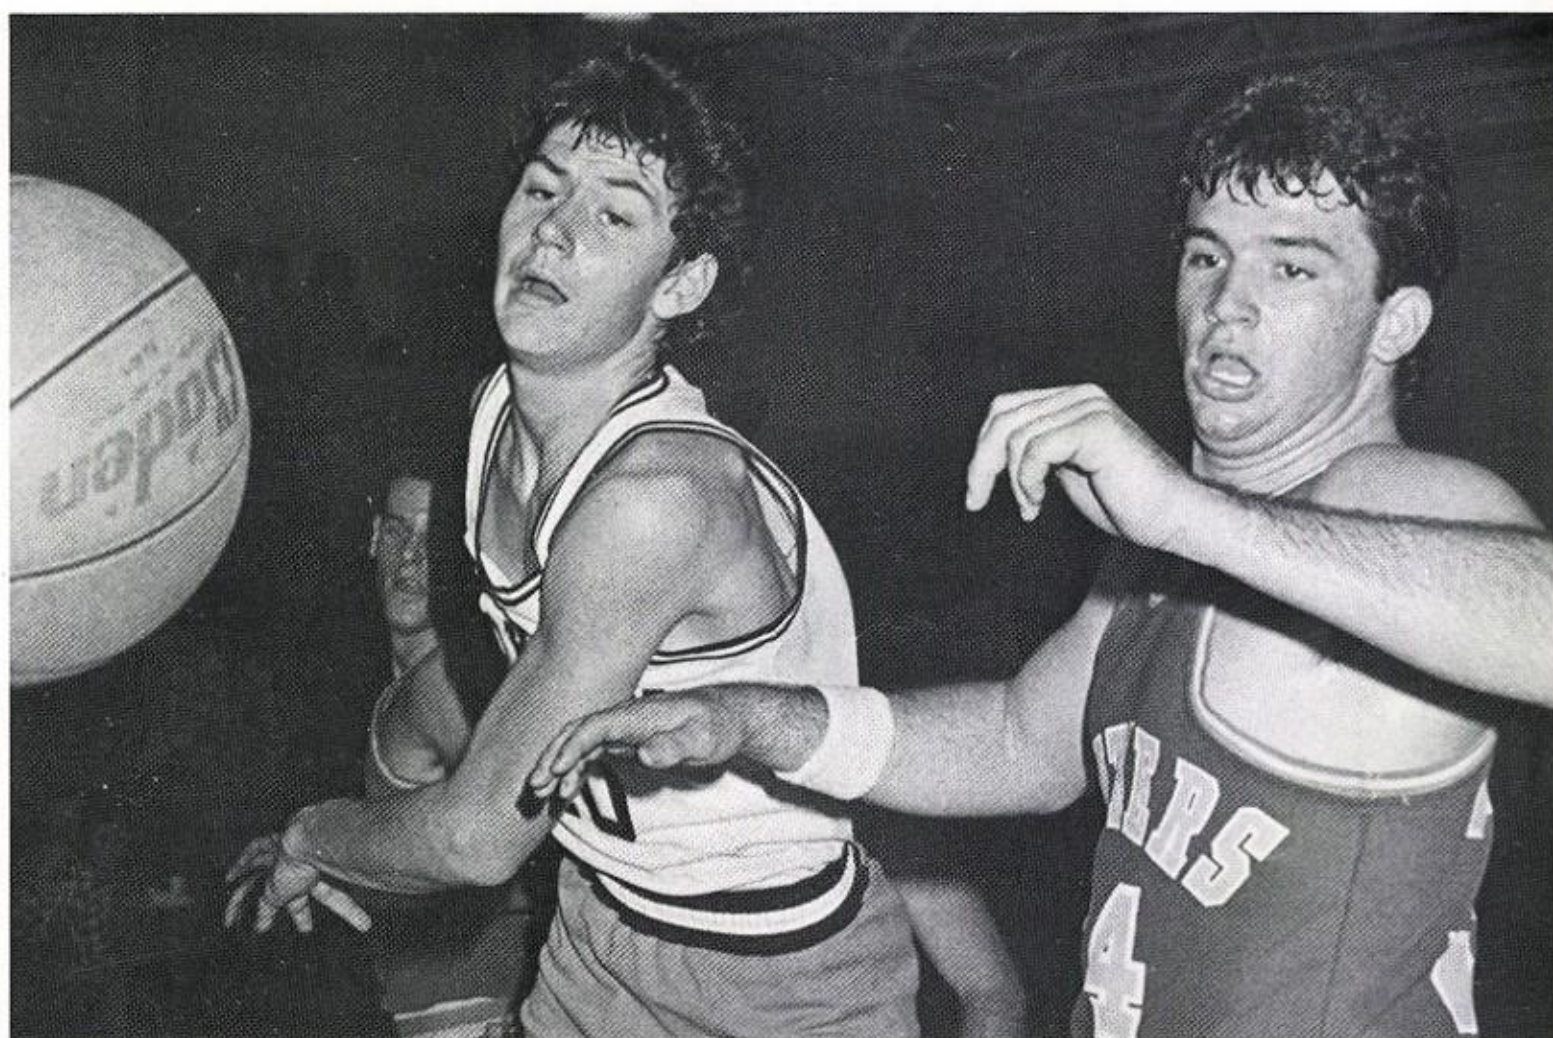

All The World's A Stage . . .

During the course of this drama, enthusiasm, determination, and joy have been evident as the cast members and directors have put all they could into the tasks which have confronted them. The range and intensity of emotion these people have felt has left a lasting impression that will be carried with them long after the production is over. Because of the tradition of excellence associated with North Lamar, these students will take with them an expectation of doing their best wherever their lives may lead.

As the production ends, and closing lines are said, there is a feeling of finality; however, the drama will really never end. In September, there will come a new opening scene with new faces in the cast and directors. With each new student or faculty member, there will be a change in North Lamar, but also with North Lamar, there will be a change in each person. Although the scenes and dialogue will never be the same as they were this year, the goal of educating young people will never change.

Time! Erin Swint supervises candidate's skits and speeches at State Beta Convention.

Intervals! Band Director Steve Wells lectures during the week before marching contest.

Sideline Encouragement: Robert Edwards, Brett Johnson, and David Vickers give support to the football team.

Sweetheart for the Day: Laura Robertson and Evie Seay congratulate Amy Foster after the Valentine Pageant.

Fill It to the Rim: Erik Moore and Samantha Berry cook peanut brittle during Chemistry class.

Our Drama . . .

Pica, cropper, tri-pak . . . These words were meaningless to us until we were introduced to the wonderful world of yearbook production.

It all began in the spring of '86 when we were somehow chosen to become the Co-Editors of the 1987 Yacht. This caused confusion for many people because we were often badgered by the question, "But who is THE editor?" We replied that our numerous other obligations and responsibilities made it necessary to divide the workload to better cover the events of the year. Thus, the "Co-Editor" title was born.

Perhaps the most difficult task that we faced during the year was the selection of a theme. To find the one word or phrase that reflected a unique aspect of the school year was like trying to find a needle in a haystack. We were at our wit's end until suddenly, (in fourth period government class) we knew. "All the World's a Stage . . ." was a perfect way to combine the memorable events into a 240-page drama.

Hibernation in the Yacht room was looked upon by outsiders as a strange form of human behavior. Had they dared to pay a visit inside, "deadline" would have been the suitable password. Piles of pictures and grease pencil stubs littered the counter, as did stacks of notepads with hastily scribbled messages. Such a sight would promote a hasty exit with the desire to never return.

Without the aid of Head Photographer, Greg McNeece, the difficulty of our task would have been greatly multiplied. As he roamed the campus taking pictures of anything that moved, we sometimes wondered if the camera had become attached to his body. Of course, without the assistance of Mrs. Rhea Brown, our advisor, there would be no yearbook. Her never-ending humor, wisdom, and patience helped us through the dark days of deadline.

Our only aim was to give you a yearbook that reflected what the year was all about. This brief summary is only what we saw, but each person contributed to the picture. Years from now, when you glance through the yellowing pages, we hope you will always remember your own special memories of this very special year.

Typing Away: Mrs. Rhea Brown, Yacht advisor, types another page.

Captions: Missy Payne writes captions for pictures.

The following people were responsible for photography in the 1987 Yacht.

The popcorn has been eaten, and the theatre emptied. Although the curtain has closed on this production, others will follow. A year of learning about life and ourselves will carry over into the memories of what we tried to accomplish here. It was not something to be judged by critics, for it was merely what we were and what we felt.

When we look back on 1987, we will find that the ingenuity of time created a group so varied, and yet, all were held together by an invisible thread. Growing together and learning together, the "ties that bind" may have unraveled and split at times; however, they were always knotted by the determination of teachers and the longstanding friendships of students.
